House Expected To Approve Hikes In Highway Taxes

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Some supporters and opponents agreed today the House probably will pass a controversial plan boosting highway user taxes almost one billion dollars a year to pay for a vast new road building pogram.

Rep. Frank Smith (D-Miss), opposing the tax increases on gasoline, trucks and truck tires, conceded "I'm afraid things are lined up pretty well on the other side."

Rep. Russell Mack (R-Wash), who swung over to support the tax plan after proposed truck tire taxes were reduced, commented "I think the proposal will go through now and will be accepted by the Eisenhower administration."

Both Smith and Mack are members of a House Public Works subcommittee which approved the tax hikes yesterday and will submit the program to the full committee Monday.

After hearings Monday and Tuesday, the full committee is scheduled to act Wednesday and bring the 43-billion-dollar, 12-year highway construction program to the House floor the following week.

Asst. Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana warned, however, that the proposed tax increases could stir up hot opposition.

Halleck said he personally still prefers President Eisenhower's original proposal to finance the road program by setting up a special commission to sell bonds, which technically would be outside the federal debt limit or budget.

Mack said he prefers that plan, too, but it is "obvious" Congress will not accept it. The Senate already has voted 60-31 against the Eisenhower bond proposal and the House subcommittee voted 5-3 yesterday for the tax plan instead.

Three of the four Republicans on the subcommittee supported the tax increase, along with two senior Democrats. Mack said he believes the administration will accept the tax increases as a workable substitute.

Treasury officials will get a chance to clarify the administration's position at the hearing Monday.

Mack said it would be "financial irresponsibility" to reject both the bond plan and the tax increases and "go ahead with no definite financing arrangements — 'hat would just increase the federal debt substantially."

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) is reported to have approved the tax increase, designed to put the big road building program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

In view of that, both Mack and Smith said they expected a majority of Republicans and Democrats to support the plan. Mack said he thought Republicans would be "pretty solid" for the plan once they realize the bond proposal is doomed.

The Senate bill made no provisions for financing the road building; tax legislation must originate in the House. But Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), sponsor of the Senate bill, has said he would not object to tax increases to pay for the program.

The schedule of increases: Gasoline, from 2 to 3 cents a gallon; diesel fuel, used by trucks, 2 to 6 cents a gallon; heavy tires, 5 to 15 cents a pound; heavy tubes, 9 to 5 cents a pound; heavy tire retreads, from no tax now to 7½ cents per pound; trucks, 8 to 10 per cent.

Mack said this would raise an additional 12 to 13 billion dollars over the next 14 years. With regular highway user taxes already levied, he said, this would provide almost 35 billion dollars to finance the program.

Government units, federal, state and local operate 71 per cent of all the hospital beds in the nation.

cials and newspapers, their unfair attack on the state of Arkansas, their selfish and deliberate distortion of facts in this matter, are to blame for this unhappy situation."

Memphis' decision to build its own power plant rather than to buy power from the privately-constructed Dixon - Yates plant prompted President Eisenhower to call for a re-study of the need for the Dixon-Yates plant.

Subsequent Senate action made the availability of funds for the project contingent on Memphis' refusal to follow through on its announced plan to build its own power plant.

Gov. Faubus, in a blistering telegram to Mr. Eisenhower, said the President's "indecision regarding construction of (the Dixon-Yates plant) is in high disfavor with this area."

Stopping construction of the plant now, Faubus told the President, would be "an admission that your administration is guilty of all the charges of error, bad judgment, neglect and conniving with special interests that have been hurled by the opposition to this project.

"The plant must now be constructed or your administration will be adjudged guilty of gross error, bad faith, and bad judgment."

WASHINGTON, July 9 —UP— Democratic leaders and the White House tangled in a fresh spate of words Saturday over President Eisenhower's part in the boiling Dixon-Yates power contract controversy.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler called on the President to "open the files and let the public read the complete uncensored record." He termed the contract "a major mistake of Mr. Eisenhower's administration."

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) followed by saying that "for the Dixon-Yates contract, President Eisenhower is officially and personally responsible and officially and personally culpable."

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), assailed a 1953 report by Adolphe H. Wenzell which recommended methods to curtail power functions of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Kefauver said the report showed how "TVA was attacked in the dark, behind its back with no chance to reply."

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said when asked for comment on Kefauver's remarks, that the President's position has not changed since he stated his views at a press conference on July 21, 1954.

At that time the Dixon-Yates contract was being attacked by Democrats in Congress. The President was asked then if he had changed his mind about the issue of permitting the private utility group to build a generating plant to supply power to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Mr. Eisenhower replied that the problem is that if the government goes into constant production of steam plants, why doesn't it go into the Missouri Valley, or Ohio, or Connecticut, or the Sacramento or the Pecos or anywhere else.

He said he is prepared to support TVA as it now stands with all his strength. He said that anyone who says the Dixon-Yates contract was an attempt to destroy TVA was speaking in error.

Two Youths Held

viously had chalked off such a feat as all but impossible.

But a routine investigation of a burglary aboard the St. Joseph did the trick.

William Herivede of Valley Stream, Long Island, the fishing vessel's owner, went aboard his craft and found that the door of the radio room had been broken open sometime Wednesday night.

The radiotelephone transmitter had been turned on and left operating.

Police didn't disclose exactly how their attention was turned to Maldona, but they took him and young Teen into custody last night.

Teen, a good-looking youngster who wore a crucifix under his open collar sport shirt, and Maldona, clad in grime-smeared work clothes and much-worn loafer type shoes, were located at their homes.

Interrogating officials, mindful of the maritime hoax and the fact that the St. Joseph's radio was on, began grilling the two on this subject.

For four hours the pair denied any connection. Finally, it was said, the 17-year-old broke down and acknowledged his part; his companion then made a similar admission.

They were quoted as saying they "didn't realize the messages would actually touch off a search."

However, a Coast Guard spokesman said the distress messages sent out by voice over the ship's radiotelephone were transmitted according to standard radio procedure for an hour and 35 minutes "without a single mistake."

The length of the meter was first defined as a ten millionth part of the quadrant of the earth's meridian but was later defined in terms of the wave lengths of red light under specified conditions.

Power Failures

A resident of the east side of Marie Place Boulevard said his area blacked out at 9:46 p.m. The power was still off when he called The Morning World a few minutes later. He said it was the first power failure of the week at his home.

One south side patron said she had recently sold her electric refrigerator and bought one powered by gas "because of the repeated failures during the past year and a half."

"But that doesn't do anything for my electric air conditioning unit, and we're burning up here," she added.

Temperatures at Selman field during the period of the south side power failure ranged from 92 to 95 degrees F., according to a C. A.A. source. Temperatures were presumed to be several degrees warmer in the city.

One patron gave a statement challenging city officials to allow the public to inspect power plant and electricity distribution equipment "to see if they have what they claim they have purchased and installed."

The south side power failure was first reported in the section of Lee Ave., Polk Street and Gordon Avenue shortly after 1 p.m. A few minutes later telephone calls to the Morning World offices, asking that something be done about the failures, had grown to a steady stream.

During the south side failure residents reported that city workmen were checking transformers and lines in the area. One said: "They have already looked at the transformer on the corner and now they are just riding along looking at lines. I guess they are trying to find the trouble—and I wish they would."

The failure yesterday was the fourth in as many consecutive days. Wednesday and Thursday large areas of the south side were blacked out, and Friday night complaints switched to the north portion of the city.

Frank X. Cline, Commissioner of Finance and Utilities, said yesterday afternoon that the city is trying to solve each problem reported as it arises. He said he thinks failures will be eliminated in a few days.

Some down town stores reported a run on caldles and some purchases of kerosene lanterns and lamps as a result of the recent power failures. One restaurant on the south side is completely outfitted with lamps for emergency use and a local funeral home is also reported to have bought a kerosene lamp.

Scripps-Howard — 50 Years

Surprise Party Held For Newsman Roy Howard

CINCINNATI, July 9—UP— The Cincinnati Post gave a surprise party Saturday night for Roy W. Howard to celebrate his 50th anniversary with the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Some 125 of his associates attended the dinner half a century from the day Howard came here from Indiana to take a job as Post assistant managing editor.

World leaders sent their greetings to the famous journalist by tape recorded messages and telegram. These included:

Generalissimo and Madam Chiang Kai-shek, former President Herbert Hoover, Gen. Douglas Mac Arthur, Philippine President Ramon Magsaysay, Japanese Foreign Minister Nomura Shigemitsu, elder Statesman Bernard Baruch and British publisher Lord Beaverbrook.

Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the United States and former president of the United Nations general assembly, was chief speaker. He hailed Howard as a personal friend and co-fighter against communism.

The Cincinnati Post, a Scripps-McRae newspaper when Howard came to work here in 1905, was the second of the newspapers launched by the late E. W. Scripps, founder of the organization bearing his name which is now known as Scripps-Howard.

Letters of personal greetings from nationally and internationally-known men and women were presented to Howard in a leather-bound volume. Contributors included Francis Cardinal Spellman, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, assistant to the President Sherman Adams, Gen. Mark Clark, RCA Board Chairman Gen. David Sarnoff, Lowell Thomas, Gene Tunney, and numerous other personal friends in government, business, entertainment and sports.

Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press said:

"You have built a Roy Howard tradition for aggressive, upright, responsible journalism that will successfully project far into the future all the Scripps-Howard interests to which you have devoted a whole half-century of your life."

Charles E. Scripps, chairman of the board of the Edward W. Scripps trust and grandson of the founder, announced at the dinner the establishment of the Roy W. Howard award to be made within the organization for outstanding examples of enterprise and initiative. The award will be a plaque bearing a sculptured figure of the Scripps-Howard lighthouse insignia. The first of the plaques was presented to Howard himself.

Mrs. Leon Secrest and the other two were named as sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Breedlove. Both families reside at Mounds. The boys ranged in age from nine to 13 years, according to an unofficial source.

The four youths were reported to have gone to the Bayou to swin during the afternoon. The alarm was spread early tonight when the boys failed to return to their homes.

Dragging operations began and all four bodies had been recovered by 10:30 p.m. tonight. They were being carried to Carouthers Funeral Home here.

The scene of the tragedy was reported as near the James Pecan Grove.

In laying the groundwork for British-American-French unity at the meeting with Russia, Dulles will meet Saturday in Paris with representatives of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty powers to review aims and hopes for the conference.

He will then proceed to Geneva where Mr. Eisenhower will hold an advance strategy meeting with British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden and French Premier Edgar Faure on Sunday.

While the Big Four are expected to have extensive formal sessions, officials here said some of the most important work may be accomplished at informal, social meetings.

It is planned to hold buffet get-to-gethers at the end of each formal session. At these, officials will be able to discuss their problems separately.

It is also possible that Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, President Eisenhower's old comrade-in-arms, may attend the conference. He is Russian defense minister.

Revenue Agents Hunt For Missing Man With $86,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev., July 9—UP—Internal Revenue agents continued their search of the Southwest Saturday for an ex-convict who was freed by local police along with some $86,000 in crisp new bills.

The revenuers said they had nothing on 36-year-old James Ellsworth, Omaha, Neb., but they wanted to see where he got the money, for tax inquiry purposes.

Ellsworth, arrested Wednesday night when he and a companion flashed a quantity of big money in a local casino, was released Friday night on a writ obtained by local attorneys. He left town immediately by taxi with the money.

The companion, Raymond Wilson, 33, of Tulsa, also an ex-convict, was released Saturday on a writ of habeas corpus returnable next Tuesday. His $3,000 bond was posted by bondsman Charles Lustig.

Wilson and Ellsworth had $15,200 in their pockets when they were arrested. Another $71,000 was found in their hotel room.

Wilson said he had "been saving 'C notes' for several years." Ellsworth said he "sold magazine subscriptions."

The two men were questioned Friday by Frank McGlynn Jr., an assistant district attorney from New York, in connection with the $305,000 robbery of the Woodside branch of the Chase National Bank in Queens, N. Y., April 6.

Senate Republicans To Draft Own Election Law

WASHINGTON, July 9—UP—Senate Republicans are drafting their own election law reform proposals as a substitute to be offered if action is sought on a Democratic-sponsored bill, it was learned Saturday.

The GOP measure probably will contain provisions aimed at tightening existing restrictions, now in the Taft-Hartley law, on labor union activities in political campaigns.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) has been assigned primary responsibility for drafting the legislation. He conferred this week with Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland and Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate GOP Policy committee.

With congress aiming for adjournment July 30, there is now much doubt that congress or even the Senate will act to overhaul federal election laws.

The bill now on the Senate calendar was sponsored by Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.) and approved by a straight party line vote of the rules committee with all Republicans dissenting. Curtis was the minority and dissenting member of the elections subcommittee, which drafted the bill.

The Hennings measure would put new ceilings on campaign spending, apply these regulations to primary and pre-convention campaigns as well as general election campaigns, and would set up a new and much more comprehensive reporting procedure on campaign spending. It also would revise laws dealing with individual campaign contributions.

The Republican substitute is expected to omit federal regulation of campaign spending—a proposal to which some southern Democrats also object.

Teen-Age Honor Student Held For Murdering Buddy

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 9—UP—A teen-aged honor student blasted his "bosom buddy" twice at point-blank range with a 16-gauge shotgun early Saturday after "joking" about the crime as the two youths drank a quart of wine.

"I don't know why I did it unless it was the wine," Herbert Howard Driggers, 15, told police who jailed the youth on an open charge of murder and ordered him held for superior court.

Chief Deputy Sheriff George Mutimer said young Driggers, an only son who had compiled "excellent" grades as a student at Rupert Langford junior high school, admitted shooting Clinton G. Clemmons, 16, in the back from about 10 feet away, then again in the chest from two or three feet "to put him out of his misery" as the Clemmons boy lay screaming on the ground.

The two youths lived next door to each other in a middle-class suburban section just outside the city limits and were "bosom buddies," Mutimer said. Young Clemmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Clemmons, Jr., had two younger brothers and was a student at Richmond academy here.

The Driggers boy talked freely to officers and newsmen, the deputy sheriff said, and told them he had climbed out the window of his room about midnight after his mother, Mrs. Helen Driggers, thought he was asleep.

"The two boys had planned to sleep out in the Clemmons boy's old car since it was so hot," Mutimer said, "and the Driggers boy got a quart of his father's wine from the refrigerator and they drank it."

After emptying the wine bottle, they rode around for a while and Driggers said he was getting sick from drinking the wine.

They then sat about talking and Driggers told police he got his father's shot gun and "joked" with the Clemmons youth about killing him.

"I was showing Clemmons my shotgun and when Clemmons started home. I put a shell into the gun and shot him," the youth said calmly. "He fell to the ground screaming. I put another shell into the gun and walked over to where he lay and shot him in the neck to put him out of his misery."

Louisiana Reports 137 Polio Cases

NEW ORLEANS, July 9 —UP—The state health department reported today that there have been 95 cases of paralytic polio and 42 non-paralytic cases in Louisiana since Jan. 1.

The department listed nine new cases of paralytic polio for the week ending Thursday, and eight cases of non-paralytic polio. This compares to 10 cases of non-paralytic polio for the previous week and two cases of non-paralytic.

Parishes reporting paralytic polio cases in the latest report were:

East Baton Rouge, 2; Caddo, 1; Livingston, 1; Madison, 1; Orleans, 1; St. John, 1; St. Landry, 1, and Tangipahoa, 1.

At the same time, the department reported 81 new cancer cases to bring the year's total so far to 1,809 cases.

Russians See More Cracks In Curtain

LONDON, July 9—UP—The official Soviet Newspaper Izvestia declared Saturday that "more and more cracks are becoming apparent in the Iron Curtain.

In the latest salvo in the Russians' pre-Geneva peace offensive, the Communist mouthpiece said there is no reason why the east and west should not get along simply because they have different ways of life.

Juvenile Officers Waiver Rights In Tot's Sex Killing

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 9 —UP—A 17-year old lone wolf who confessed killing a four-year old girl was denied the privilage of being treated as a juvenile Saturday and held for a court that could send him to the electric chair.

Juvenile court arraignment of Walter Bourque Jr. was called off Saturday because of the seriousness of the crime. The solemn, friendless youth allegedly admitted hacking little Patricia Ann Johnson to death in a tenement cellar because she screamed when he started "fooling around with her." The girl's body was found buried in the cellar.

Bourque, a textile mill worker whose father is a jobless auto mechanic, will be arraigned in Superior Court here Monday on a murder charge. The next step would be a move for indictment by the Hillsborough county grand jury.

The waiving by police and court officials of the usual privileges granted juveniles meant that Bourque could be electrocuted if convicted of first degree murder. Police said he admitted luring little Patricia Ann to the dirt-floored cellar where her body was unearthed Friday.

Rangers Quartet To Appear Here At High School

The Rangers quartet, which has sung for several years on one of the major broadcasting, coast -to-coast networks, and is now appearing daily on television in Los Angeles, Calif., will return to Monroe Thursday, July 19, for a three-hour concert at the West Monroe High School.

The doors will open at 6:30 p. m. and the concert will begin at 8 o'clock.

Joe Roper and the Melody Boys quartet of Little Rock, Ark., will appear here with the Rangers.

The program is being sponsored by the Booster Singing Convention of the Twin Cities, U. C. Cockrell, president. Advance tickets will be on sale at Hales Barber Shop, West Monroe.

The Rangers quartet is reported to have one of the lowest bass voices of today, in Arnold Hyles, and also one of the highest tenors, in Gene Moss. Other members of the quartet are Vernon Hyles, manager and lead singer, and Ralph Daily, Baritone. Elmer Childers is the pianist.

Organized some years ago at Dallas, Tex. the Rangers were soon sent by the governor of Texas on a goodwill tour of the southern states. Their success has been attributed to their own style of presenting many of the favorite gospel and spiritual songs.

Air, Sea Search For Boat Halted

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 9—UP—Air and sea units searched a 1,200-square mile area in the Atlantic Saturday after receiving a distress message from a "tug" but the hunt was suddenly called off four hours later by the Coast Guard.

In a radio message onitored here, the Coast Guard ordered the five searching planes and two vessels to "cease action in the case of the Tug Betsy Lee for lack of further information."

Coast Guard headquarters at Miami said marine operators at Charleston, S.C., and Jacksonville, Fla., picked up a distress message from the Betsy Lee about 11 a.m. but no other stations or listening posts heard the call.

The message said the Betsy Lee was in distress about 20 miles off the Savannah lightship but gave no further details. A short while later, another ship, which gave its name as the Pinky, said it found a life preserver in the vicinity but nothing more.

Six persons were spotted by one of the patrol planes heading for an inlet on the South Carolina coast in a small boat but a check indicated they were members of a fishing party, the Coast Guard said.

Nothing else was heard from the Betsy Lee after the one message and no evidence of a sinking at sea was found. There was no tug named the Betsy Lee known to have operated in this area, according to the Coast Guard.

Former Official Of CBS Dies At San Diego Home

SAN DIEGO, July 9—UP—Paul White, a former United Press staff correspondent who became a Columbia Broadcasting System vice president, died at his home Saturday after a long illness. He was 53.

White, news director of KFMB-TV, San Diego, joined United ress in 1924. He covered Lindbergh's trans Atlantic flight for U. P.

He joined CBS in 1929 and three years later was named vice president and general manager in charge of news. White founded the CBS news bureau. He was with the network 13 years.

In 1945 he received the Peabody award for outstanding news coverage.

White resigned from CBS to write a book, "News on the Air," which still is used by many schools. He later taught at Pulitzer School of Journalism, Iowa.

White retired and came to San Diego in 1947 because of ill health. In 1948 he joined the staff of the San Diego Journal as associate editor. He became news director of KFMB and KFMB-TV in 1950.

In 1952 he was loaned by KFMB to CBS to direct coverage of the Republican and Democratic national conventions in Chicago.

Clement Urged To Secure Repeal Of Evolution Law

WASHINGTON, July 9—UP—The American Civil Liberties Union called on Tennessee Gov. Frank G. Clement Saturday to take steps to repeal the state's law against the teaching of evolution in public schools.

It made the plea on the 30th anniversary of the celebrated Scopes trial where the law was upheld following the famous debate between William Jennings Bryan and Clarence Darrow.

Patrick Murphy Malin, ACLU executive director, urged repeal of the statute on the grounds it interferes with "the freedom of thought and speech" guaranteed in the Constitution.

Such an action, he wrote, "would be a unique contribution to the effort to re-emphasize the significance and meaning of the First Amendment (to the Constitution) at a time when the conflict between democracy and totalitarianism has strained our own belief in the active exercise of civil liberties."

Unpleasant Facts About Integration

The South has shut its eyes to the full implications of the decision announced last year by the United States Supreme Court outlawing racial segregation in the public schools.

The South has been loath and reluctant to face even the frontal facts of this decision, which by use of "psycho-political" legerdemain, flying in the face of inumerable past rulings by great jurists, relying on pronouncements by so-called mental experts, some of them known and identified as social radicals, said in effect that it hurts the feelings of Negroes to be classified seperately in an educational way from the whites.

The court, of course, ignored the equally great and important fact that in the South, at least, it hurts the feelings of the whites to be pitched into a scholastic scramble with the Negroes.

This Supreme Court, composed for the most part of political appointees, with not enough judicial experience between them to wad a shotgun, legislated an edict that if allowed to stand will in all likelihood destroy every social value cherished in the South.

Let us in the South not fool ourselves that public school integration will be the end of it.

That is merely a beginning.

And it is merely a small beginning.

At Norfolk, Va., Federal District Judge Walter Hoffman ruled last week that the sovereign State of Virginia cannot continue racial segregation in a state-owned park hitherto reserved for the white populace—whether the state operates the park, or leases it out to private authority.

This ruling, if sustained, will knock in the head every effort by Southern authorities to prevent racial integration, not only in the public schools, but also in any tax-supported agency of any description.

It will strike a judicial blow at all efforts even to abolish public schools, such as are pending in some of the Southern States.

It will turn Southern public parks over to the Negroes—and all other publicly owned recreational facilities, where the white populace, paying the taxes, will not choose to congregate. This is most especially true of the public swimming pools—in which the South has invested millions of dollars.

But let us not console ourselves in the belief that this will be the end result.

It is only the beginning.

The same legislative fiat thundered out unanimously by this politically-named and politically-minded Supreme Court, composed almost entirely of former vote-seekers who never sat on a bench, cuts much deeper.

The end result readily may be to nullify every state law against mixed marriages—miscegenation.

The logic of the Court's decision is plain, to the point where no conscientious U. S. district or circuit judge can ignore it—unless he dares to challenge the high court itself.

If it hurts a Negro's feelings and gives him an inferiority complex to be denied admission to a white school, how much more must it hurt his feelings to be denied the right of marriage to a white?

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which seems to have dominated the thinking of the Supreme Court in this vital issue, has as one of its probable goals the mongrelization of the races.

Intermarriage, it must be remembered, is legal in a number of states. The advance guard of white Hollywood actresses, where communism was embraced when it seemed to be a popular front, now are flaunting themselves in Harlem night-clubs and being depicted in trade magazines hugging and kissing Negroes.

At the proper time, the NAACP undoubtedly will file in every Southern state test suits designed to invalidate laws against mixed marriages.

All of this is dangerous business, and we in the South might as well face up to the facts. Nine men with little judicial background, sitting in Washington under the cover of so-called justices,—not one of them elected to his job, or responsive to public opinion—removable only by impeachment—have embarked upon the greatest legislative experiment in American history—to ram down the throats of the people a vast and revoluntionary set of laws disguised as judicial rulings.

They have said that they are going to ram racial integration down our throats whether we like it or not—and by implication, that they—these nine justices—are going to sit beside our municipal, and perhaps our club and privately owned swimming pools, and tell us who goes in and who goes out, on a racial basis.

The entire situation is dangerous, highly infiammable, containing seeds of strife and discord that bode no good for America. The brunt of it all falls upon the South, where the Freedmen's Bureau and the Union League and the Scalawags and Carpetbaggers had their heyday back in the savage shameful era of vindictive "reconstruction."

New Roads Needed

The greatest road-building program in the history of the country will soon get under way, according to plans announced by many states. It is generally recognized that present highways are inadequate for postwar traffic but the states can do little about it at present because the labor force that would be necessary for large-scale construction simply is not available.

Higher gasoline and other taxes to finance the building of new roads seem inevitable. Under present conditions the cost of building a mile of highway is four times the 1940 figure. Whether more adequate roads will cut the traffic accident toll remains to be seen, but that is one of the considerations behind the plans for many super highways which are now in the formative state.

Louisiana is the only state which extends in part over three major sections of the Gulf Coastal Plain—the East and West Gulf Coastal Plain and the Mississippi Alluvial Plain.

Easter Seal Proceeds

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

With total proceeds of the statewide 1955 Easter Seal Campaign for crippled children still inching toward $120,000 (it now stands at $119,555.92), please accept our heartfelt thanks for your part in giving us the best news coverage we have ever received.

It is a continuing effort, on the parts of both the disabled who struggle toward a more productive and better life, and agencies, such as ours, which attempt to provide the special tools and aids they need in their struggle. That effort is strengthened greatly when newspapers, such as yours, consistently bring the needs of Louisiana's estimated 18,000 orthopedically disabled and 80,000 spcech handicapped.

Our special thanks, too, to you and to the members of your staff who work with this office and Easter Seal volunteers in your community.

JACQUELINE T. LEONHARD.
Executive Director, Louisiana Chapter for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

P. S. Incidentally, citizens of Ouachita Parish should be especially proud of themselves. Our Ouachita unit was among the 21 parish Easter Seal organizations in the state which this year exceeded its 1954 total!

Monroe—A Mart City

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

(The following letter was sent to Louisiana Senators Long and Ellender and a copy to the Morning World for publication.)

The telegram about the planning funds for deepening the Ouachita river from 6 ft. to 9 ft, which came a day or two ago, means that we shall have a channel that will enable seaworthy craft that may go right on to destination beyond our shores, particularly South and Central America, the future markets of the whole world. Our million dollar river, as a Shreveport gentleman said to me once, may afford freight rates that should make a "mart" city here where we can waylay the goods of the countries mentioned and elsewhere and distribute them to points beyond, all because of the cheaper facility of transportation service. It is possible that our posterity may see all this but the present generation here seems satisfied with its old southern tradition of letting well enough alone. This is shown by the lack of interest in transportation service on this beautiful and serviceable river, even to the point of having the United States government state that due to this fact it would be compelled to give less attention to the locks and dams, even abandoning some of them. So it must be uphill job for you to get this small attention in finance and we know that it is up to us to manifest some greater interest in this asset that could aid in making us a great city here.

It is fairly well known that we've grown in population here, with the rest of the country, — the Twin Cities, with the metropolitan area, having some seventy thousand people, and one wonders what kind of industry here justifies such a growth. When I came here fifty years ago we had some seven thousand - odd people. So you see we are on the march, at the crossroads of progress and my apology for telling you this is that you are both from south Louisiana, which emphasizes the value we place upon your interest in this section.

$75 Old Age Pension

Olla, La.

Editor, Morning World:

If it would not be inconsistent with your policy I would be glad for you to publish (in your forum column) this letter whereby I am asking all folks, both young and old who are interested in a $75 old age pension (which I have been fighting for) to write the editors of their favorite newspaper; both weekly and daily, giving their views, as to why we must keep on working until we have made the $75 a reality.

The more help we can get from every nook and cranny of the state, the better chance we will have, for we have to fight with one hand and work with the other.

I have made some good headway already, for we have the fight rolling along in the right direction.

Mrs. Miller 'Lunaticized'

Tuscon, Arizona

Editor, Morning World:

Speaking of glamourized racketeers, frauds (including Papa Sigmund Freud — a foreigner, of course), and charlatans, such as have become popularized since the 1933 rise to power of the Roosevelt-Henry Wallace — Harry Hopkins-Frankfurter "intellectuals," a recent AP news report of, it reads, "a brilliant New York psychiatrist" who was, and still is, "mental health director for New York City's domestic relations court," is highly educational.

This AP story reveals that this "brilliant (mental health) psychiatrist" was quite recently charged with the crime of burglary, but that ("burglary is a prison offense, petty larceny is not") "a grand jury said at worst he was no more than a petty thief."

And, the AP report related, "It (the grand jury) recommended that he (the "brilliant psychiatrist," if you please) be prosecuted for petty larceny."

It seems that this so "mentally healthy, brilliant psychiatrist," and Player-of-God, had paid an uninvited, surreptitious visit to a Piermont, N. Y., house and, upon leaving, "he left behind an expensive camera and was picked up when he returned to retrieve it." Police stated that old brilliant, who was, he said, just out on "a lark," "took hooked rugs, old guns, marine souvenirs and other bric-a-brac valued at $1,000."

Presumably, on account of his extraordinary brilliance, and profound knowledge of what does and does not constitute "mental health," the grand jury decided that the value of the loot was only one-tenth of what the unbrilliant police evaluated it.

It is terrifying to know that men such as this "mental health director" for the City of New York are vested with the power to Play-God, to throw their fellow men and women into horrible lunatic-prisons where they are forced to live, 24-hours every day, with all sorts of really mad creatures.

Westbrook Pegler's hard-hitting syndicated column recently exposed the criminal attempt, by a federal judge and another "brilliant psychiatrist," to "lunaticize" Mrs. Lucille Miller, of Bethel, Vt. Fortunately for Mrs. Miller, there was a Pegler, and he went to bat to correct the injustice done her. She "has been freed from the asylum in Washington, D. C." — but Mr. Pegler cannot police the federal judges, and "brilliant psychiatrists," in all 48 states. When, if ever, will the U. S. Senate and U. S. Attorney General Brownell step in to put a stop to this power-mad insanity of these political judges and psychiatrists?

EUGENE B. ETHRIDGE.

P. S. Did someone say that suppress, conceal, "red herring," went out with good old Harry Truman, Acheson, Alger Hiss, "Major" Irving Peress and Robt. T. B. Stevens?

I cannot get over this deal here (in Tuscon): 27 or 28 papers in the public library without one Westbrook Pegler column. But the place is overloaded with Drew Pearson, the Alsops and their like.

Not A Political Party

Bastrop, La.

Editor, Morning World:

A great many people do not agree with me that communism is not a political party, it is an anarchist organization opposed to politically organized government. Irrespective of their disagreement, facts are facts just the same.

The Communist organization was first organized under the title "Anarcho-Communist," by Mikhail Bakunin. The policy of the organization was "Revolution" and violent overthrow of all politically organized governments. They staged a revolution in Germany in 1848, but were badly defeated. Hundreds of thousands of Communist refugees fled to America, bringing with them their Communist "manifesto" the "anarcho-Communist." In 1872, Earl Marx, who was one of the leaders in the German revolution, split with the anarcho-Communist and sat up the first socialist party in the United States, with headquarters in New York City. At this point, it is interesting to note that Karl Marx and Frederick Engles, the principal leaders in the German revolution, were staunch supporters of Abraham Lincoln for president, who was the sponsor of the second American revolution which cost the lives of many thousands of men.

Many people don't like to hear the truth told, but the foregoing are facts as shown and proven by American history. No communism is not a political party, that is why our courts are constantly indicting Communist for advocating and teaching the violent overthrow of the government.

Peaceful Integration

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

We've been reading a lot lately about segregation. One group contends segregation is the only way to keep things peaceable, while another group shows that peaceable integration is not only possible, but is a "must" if equal rights are to be secured as guaranteed each citizen by the Constitution of these United States.

Perhaps because segregation has so long been a custom, some of us have accepted it without stopping to ask ourselves if it were really right. Perhaps the fact that the different colors of peoples (due to climatic conditions, etc., as scientists tell us) have mistakenly been called different races, has been responsible in part for our attitudes. But when we stop to think that we are all of the same human race, all of the same original parents, Adam and Eve, things begin to look differently.

It's not easy to change our way, especially one of long custom, but if we are truly to be Christians, we must conform our ways to what Christ would have us do. And He gave us the command to love others as ourselves; He told us that "he who exalts himself shall be humbled, and he who humbles himself shall be exalted." He gave us the prayer "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." Aren't we really praying for no segregation on earth, since there is none in heaven?

Some Get Pensions

Alto, La.

Editor, Morning World:

This seems to be the place where everybody gets the gripe off their chest. Well here is mine.

Why is it that a person has to sign his life away or lie his head off to get some aid from our great State? By that I mean, If a person is 65 or over, He can get a pension if he sits and does nothing. If he helps his family in their work he's cut either cut down or cut off completely.

If a Negro has a baby she gets welfare assistance for them all. If she gets out to make a dollar or two to help herself, she's cut off. WHY?

If she is able to work she shouldn't have been put on in the first place. If not then the child should be taken by the state.

I know a man and his wife who were getting the Old Age Pension, He contacted T. B. and went to an Institution. His check was cut off, leaving his wife to pay $40.00 a month rent, lights, gas, water and food bills on $50.00.

The Welfare was ask to help get him some glasses. No, he didn't need his eyes to make a living, but they'll give it to someone who's going to have another illegitimate child.

Hundreds of people have left the farms and moved to town to get on the Welfare and sit.

I think if a man lives to be 65 and has paid taxes etc. all his life he is entitled to his pension. If not why do some get it and others don't?

I know people who are half starving and the welfare won't even listen. Again I know others who have nice homes and ride in big cars with their pension.

Well I for one think it's time for a new Governor and a big shake in our whole state welfare system.

A Taxpayer.

Great Healing Art

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Chiropractic was discovered in 1895 by chance. It has not been chance, however, which has put it in its place as one of the great healing arts. It has struggled up on merit. You, the people, gave it its rightful place. It is well known that if a product or an art has no value, it will expire to a natural death because you, the people, find it lacking. The people of Louisiana are deprived of legitimate chiropractic. It exists upon merit, in spite of the medical practice act. Chiropractic is licensed and regulated by law in 44 states, Canada, Australia, England, Hawaii, New Zealand and Switzerland as a distinct science for the people to use for their better health. Why not here?

Chiropractors do not seek to replace or practice medicine. They merely want proper legislation so that they may keep a "clean" house, and not be persecuted by the existing situation which takes away his right to liberty, and the pursuit of health for his fellow man. Arrests have been made in the last few months to reduce the ranks of the chiropractors, so that the medical board of the state of Louisiana won't have to worry about the strength of the group, if legislation should arise. Arrests have occurred at Minden, Ruston, Oakdale, Shreveport (5 there), Springhill and other places. Don't let your freedom of choice be taken from you!!! Even if you don't agree with chiropractic, don't let it be erased for thousands of your fellow citizens. Just ask yourself, what do I know about chiropractic? Don't condemn it. Think! Others know.

Your representatives and senators are good men. You chose them for their ability, and to represent you. Contact them or any other public agent, and let them know what you want. They are glad to know how you feel. Well, how do you feel? Are you going to do something about it?

Cheating Husbandmen

There is a semi - detestable breed of husband who is not all evil, is rarely malicious, never cheats.

Except a little bit.

He won't recognize himself when I describe that little bit, but his wife will.

He complains easily and often about household bills. Delivers mealtime orations on the necessity for economy. "I'm no millionaire, you know." He explains with persistence that one has to "live within income or your outgo will be your downfall." He's constantly discovering wasted food because somebody cooked too much. He tells Junior that "a penny saved is a penny earned."

Then he comes home with two pairs of $45.00 golf shoes for himself.

He's the cheating husbandman who preaches economy while running up his bar bill.

He talks "balanced budget," but he's a sucker for every new gadget for his car. He thinks everybody should "tighten the old belt," but he makes doggoned sure he doesn't deprive himself.

Such men have their counterparts in Congress.

These are the distinguished gentlemen from Horner's Corners who applaud the Hoover Commission's recommendations for curtailing government expense, but that's all they do about it.

They are the pretty good senators who announce to their constituents at campaign time, "Look at the record. Every time somebody proposed a tax increase, I voted against it!"

And he did.

But he voted for the expensive luxuries that require high taxes.

Representative Cannon said the other day that you can "go down the roll and find many members who never vote for a tax increase, but they vote for every appropriation. The people must be protected against that sort of statesmanship."

The boys are trying to work both sides of the street so they can come home at campaign time and say, "I voted for your pet piece of pork" and "I voted against a tax increase," thereby securing the votes of folks going both ways.

The Hoover Commission has recommended specific cuts in government spending which will bring our budget into balance and return our big, mutually - owned business to a sound and solvent economic base.

Hardly a voice will be raised but in its praise.

But when it comes to a vote for - or - against the Skunk River Valley Development Project, the distinguished gentleman from the Skunk River Valley will vote for it and do enough log - rolling in its behalf so that most of the Hoover recommendations will never be affected.

These were an accumulation of some of the best business brains in the United States who made these recommendations.

But they're not running for election.

And the distinguished gentlemen who are . . . have voted "against" spending money . .

But in this Congress so far they have voted "for" 179 separate bils which are going to cost the taxpayer money.

Both his and that of coming generations.

This is practical applied politics, but it's not fair.

It's not illegal, but it's not nice . . .

To offer to buy a man lunch and then leave him with the check.

Or to buy a man's vote . . . with his own money.

Facts Worth Knowing

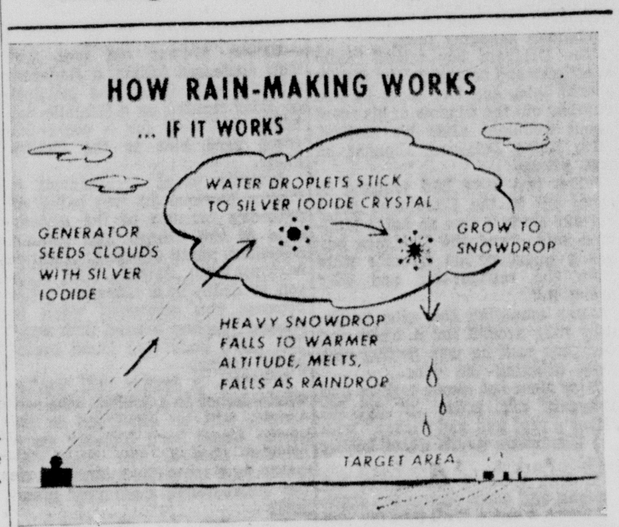

On the heights around Mount Olympus in northwest Washington State precipitation, mostly snow, attains the amazing annual total of from 200 to 250 inches, says the National Geographic Society. Moisture-laden winds from the Pacific are deflected upward by the massive Olympic peaks. The resulting rainfall on the western slopes reaches 140 inches a year, creating the wettest region in continental United States. However, the northeastern side of the Olympic Peninsula is so dry that irrigation is necessary for farm crops.

Water wells in the dry Canary Islands off northwest Africa often bring wealth to their owners, says the National Geographic Society. The islands' banana cultivation requires much moisture. Unirrigated land sells for as little as $10 an acre. With sufficient water for bananas, that same acre may sell for $10,000.

Every cadet of the United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., must make four voyages in the bark Eagle, a square-rigged school for seamanship. Launched in 1936 at Hamburg, the 1,900-ton steel three-master originally bore the name Horst Wessel, says the National Geographic Society.

In summer the Chesapeake Bay contains billions of jellyfish, some poisonous, some harmless, says the National Geographic Society. Most are so diaphanous and frail as to be barely distinguishable, and a swimmer may glide among their packed bodies without being aware of them.

Congressional Quarterly

Witch doctors with their rain dances and scientists in their laboratories try, each in their own way, to put weather to work. The progress.

Congress, recognizing the potential of weather control, has set up an advisory committee to evaluate experiments. The committee will report by June 30, 1956. In an earlier excursion, in 1891, Congress voted $9,000 for rain experiments.

Rain - making — or rain-increasing — gets most attention, but meteorologists also have dabbled with retarding rain and diverting storms.

The theory is that clouds manufacture rain by drawing in water vapor, which condenses into tiny water droplets. The droplets stick to ice crystals, growing to snowdrops. Falling to warmer altitudes, the snowdrops melt into raindrops.

DRY ICE SEEDING

When dust or other natural nuclei are lacking, rain - makers try to feed artificial nuclei into the clouds. In 1946, Dr. Vincent Schaefer seeded dry ice into "supercooled" clouds. Then Dr. Bernard Vonnegut discovered that silver iodide also worked as a substitute for natural nuclei. Water droplets adhere to these artificial cores forming snowdrops, just as they stick to natural ice crystals.

Silver iodide seeding has been replacing dry ice. It's cheaper and more flexible. Ground - based generators send silver iodide into the air, and the operators believe air currents carry the crystals to target clouds.

The advisory committee evaluates reports from commercial seeders and conducts its own experiments. No firm conclusions have been reached, but Charles Gardner, Jr., executive secretary, has expressed optimism that seeding really increases rain economically.

PLUTARCH HAD A THEORY

Other rain - making theories persist without scientific backing. In the first century A.D., the Greek writer Plutarch observed that rain often followed big battles, and concluded that noise was the cause. Gardner explains that the ancients usually fought battles in fair weather; weather changes continually, so the odds favor rain soon after a spell of sunshine.

The noise and concussion theory has been brought up to date by the atomic bomb, which has been blamed for storms. Gardner contends that even the atomic bomb is puny compared to the vast natural energies that shape weather.

Seeding has become a big business. Four large firms lead the field in the U. S., and there are 20 smaller operators. During the past six years, seeding has been undertaken in 37 states and on every continent except Antarctica. About 40 projects — each taking several months — are under way at any given time. Measured by area, cloud seeding is about 12 times as widespread as irrigation.

OTHER CUSTOMERS

In a dry farming area, Gardner estimated, an increase of even 1-80 of an inch in rainfall would be enough to pay for seeding.

Farmers probably are the seeders' best customers, but the process also has been used in an effort to cause rain needed by city reservoirs and hydroelectric generators, to control forest fires, and to provide snow for skiing. It also may be possible to inhibit rain and to reduce the intensity of hail and lightning.

In one area, wheat farmers hired a seeding firm to increase rain, and cherry growers hired another firm to inhibit rain. Interests may clash within the target area, and other areas may complain that seeders "steal" their rain. Several states already have regulatory laws.

Even when weather can't be changed, it can be turned to economic advantage. Private meteorology has been expanding with the Weather Bureau's blessing. Commercial weather men use the same raw data as the federal forecasters, but they apply it to their clients' specific problems.

Canadian Uranium Discovery

Casual Friendship May Now Be Worth Millions

AKRON, Ohio, July 9—UP —A casual vacation friendship started 20 years ago blossomed Saturday into a business partnership that could be worth millions.

Mrs. John J. Madigan, a 48-year old grandmother who liked the Canadian "bush" country because it was "so peaceful and quiet," learned this week she is partner in a uranium discovery rated "one of the richest in North America."

"It was all just by accident," the bewildered Mrs. Madigan said. "But don't think it isn't a lot of fun."

She and her husband, a trucking firm executive, started spending summer vacations at Sharbot Lake Ont., 20 years ago. There they met and became friends with two residents, Dr. C. J. Whytock and Harvey Adams.

"Last summer they told us they had been looking for uranium," Mrs. Madigan said, "but neither my husband nor I thought much about it.

Four weeks ago, she received a telephone call from Dr. Whytock. He reported possible discovery of uranium, and wanted the couple to buy a geiger counter and come immediately.

"My husband couldn't go because of his work," she said, "so I tried to interest some friends. They all laughed when I said I was prospecting for uranium."

Two friends finally agreed to accompany her.

Mrs. Madigan bought a "Lucky Strike" geiger counter for $99.50 from an Akron variety store, packed her bags, and drove non-stop to Sharbot Lake.

"The counter clicked away like mad when we went over the area," she said. "The doctor took some specimens into Ottawa and Toronto while the rest of us staked out the claims."

The report from assayers showed 15 per cent uranium content. Then came a message this week from the atomic Energy Commission that the field could be one of the richest on the continent. The ore might be worth $1,500 a ton.

"We're trying to interest some American mining firms in the claims," she said. "In this country, the AEC will do the mining. In Canada, you've got to mine it yourself, then sell it to the government."

Mrs. Madigan said she probably would sell her entire interest in the venture to the mining company, as would her friends.

Albert Pick Dies At Miami; Headed Huge Hotel Chain

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., July 9 (AP)—Albert Pick Sr., 86-year-old hotel executive, died today.

Pick was president of the Albert Pick Hotels, Inc., until 1929, when he became chairman of the board. His son, Albert Jr., now heads the firm which has hotels in Chicago, Columbus, Ohio, and Miami Beach.

The older Pick in 1887 entered a Chicago hotel supply firm that had been founded by his father and an uncle. It became Albert Pick & Co., dealers in hotel and restaurant supplies.

He sold that concern in 1926 and in the same year started the Pick Hotels Corp. It began with several hotels but ultimately the chain included 25 hotels. Pick was the first president and later became chairman of the corporation.

Survivors include his son, Albert Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Pick Edmunds of Miami Beach.

The Pick chain operated hotels in Cleveland, Chicago, Indianapolis, Birmingham, Ala., Canton, Ohio, Topeka, Kan., Columbus, Ohio, Flint, Mich., Toledo, Ohio, Detroit, Cincinnati, Evanston, Ill., Baton Rouge, La., Scranton, Pa., Washington, D.C., St. Louis, Dayton, Ohio, South Bend, Ind., Youngstown, Ohio, and Pittsburgh.

Dugas Wins Fight For Job, $28,000 In Back Salary

DONALDSONVILLE, La. July 9—UP—C. J. (Bobby) Dugas apparently has won his seven-year fight to win back his job as Ascension parish classroom supervisor, and $28,000 with it.

In 1948, the board abolished the post Dugas held. Arguing the action violated the state's teacher tenure act, Dugas took it to court.

The state Supreme Court has acted on the case twice. In its most recent decision, the court held that Dugas should be reinstated with back pay for the seven years.

The board named a committee to negotiate with Dugas over some $28,000 in back pay he is due under the Supreme Court ruling.

Some members of the board said they feared that paying that much in a lump sum would wreck the board's operating budget for this fiscal year.

Mental Patient Held As Suspect In Sex Slaying

MIAMI, July 9—UP— Detectives pronounced a shy but deeply religious mental patient a "hopeful" suspect Saturday in the year-old kidnap-slaying of little Judith Ann Roberts.

The suspect, Raphael Machalica, 31, also known as Robert Brown, was arrested late Friday while praying at the grave of the little Baltimore girl who was snatched from her grandparents home here last summer. She was sexually attacked, strangled with a cord and left dead at a lonely bayfront spot.

"The case looks hopeful but I doubt that we could ever bring the suspect to trial because of his mentality," said Chester Eldredge, chief of the homicide bureau.

Machalica, a sad-faced man with piercing, sunken eyes, spent three hours with a psychiatrist Saturday. Detectives returned him to his jail cell in a "highly nervous" condition and refused to permit reporters and photographers to see him.

Eldredge said the suspect would be taken to the scene of the crime next week after a series of further psychiatrict examinations. He still has not been charged with any crime.

Officers explained Machalica's life had been a weird one. He was confined to a state mental hospital in Lincoln, Ill., upon the death of his father when he was five years old. Twenty four years later he was released in custody of a florist near the hospital.

But his sister, Mrs. Jose Rubalcaba, of Chicago, said he left the florist for Florida because he felt "unloved, deserted" since he was not returned to his own family. He changed his name to "Robert Brown" because "I never had any luck" with the other name.

Detectives, tipped by cemetery employes, slipped up on Machalica at the grave of little Judy. He was praying and copying the tombstone inscription which said in part "She Lives with God."

Detective Charles Sapp asked Machalica if he were observing the anniversary of her death. The suspect promptly corrected Sapp, explaining that Judith Ann died on July 6.

Army Expected To Secure Enough Maneuver Rights

The Army should have enough permits from landowners for use of their property during mass maneuvers late this fall "by Sept. 1," Public Works Director Roy Sessums said today.

The Army is planning to move about 100,000 men onto the huge 600,000 - acre tract surrounding Camp Polk for large - scale war games. The camp has been deactivated for about a year.

Landowners are to be reimbursed for any damages to their property but receive no fees for use by troop maneuvers. Rep. R. E. Hernandez of Vernon parish conferred with Sessums yesterday. They said they discussed "minor mechanics" of getting the permits collected.

Sessums said that the engineers are reporting smooth progress. "They haven't run into any organized opposition," he said.

"The entire job of getting the permits on all the acreage may take a year or more," Sessons said. "But it looks as if the engineers will get enough land to open with by Sept. 1."

Slidell Finds Big Gusher Of Artesian Water

SLIDELL, La., July 9—UP—An artesian well said to have one of the largest capacities every reported in the state has been brought in here, it was reported today.

Mayor Homer G. Fritchie said the well is free-flowing at the rate of 2,100 gallons per minute.

Previously, the town had been depending on one well flowing at the rate of 430 gallons per minute.

Carnegie and Smith, consulting engineers, said the well is about 2,300 feet deep. They said it should take care of the city's water supply problems for years.

Johnson Begins 10-Year Term

ANGOLA, La. July 9—UP—Ben Johnson, at one time called the "vice king of south Louisiana", has started serving a 10-year sentence for illegal possession of marijuana.

The 38-year-old Johnson was given special permission last Monday to marry Bowdry Morgan, 31.

Sheriff's deputies from East Baton Rouge parish, where Johnson was being held since his conviction last winter, escorted the former used car dealer here.

The state supreme court at first reversed the verdict of guilty handed down at Johnson's trial this Spring. But after rehearing the case last month, the court upheld the sentence.

District Judge G. Caldwell Herget performed the wedding ceremony in his office Monday.

Polk To Become Maneuver Center, Army Discloses

WASHINGTON, July 9 UP—The Army and Air Force disclosed today that Camp Polk in Louisiana is expected to be the nerve-center of a mammoth Army-Air Force maneuver which will climax a 12-month cross-continent training program in atomic age tactics.

The operation, to be known as Sagebrush, is scheduled for November and December. It will test more than 110,000 ground troops and 30,500 Air Force men under conditions of atomic and bacteriological warfare.

The Louisiana maneuvers will use four divisions. They are the 82nd Airborne, the Third Infantry, and the First and Fourth Armored in addition to the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment and headquarters of the Fourth Army and the Third and 18th Corps.

Chancery Judge Denies Injunction To Candy Firm

JACKSON, Miss., July 9 (AP) — Chancery Judge Arnold Pyle today denied Tootsie Roll makers an injunction prohibiting distribution of a New Orleans candy similar in shape and wrapper.

Sweets Co. of America, makers of Tootsie Rolls, is seeking a $2,500 judgment against Bayou Candy Co., of New Orleans, makers of Long Boy, and a court order against distribution of Long Boy.

The Tootsie Roll makers charged Bayou Candy Co. is "reaping the benefits" of Tootsie Roll advertising.

Pyle set the case for September term of court.

Oklahoma Integratio n

Negro Teachers Appeal For Help After Ousters

TULSA, July 9—UP—An attorney for the State Negro Teachers Association said Saturday he will go to New York Tuesday to confer with Negro leaders about widespread dismissals of Negro teachers in Oklahoma.

Amos Hall, Tulsa attorney, said he would meet with officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Wednesday and return Thursday.

"I have some definite views on a plan of action," Hall said, "but I would rather not discuss them until I return. I want to see what is being done in other states."

Hall earlier called on Gov. Raymond Gary to "take the lead in relocating" an estimated 400 Negro teachers facing unemployment because of public school integration in Oklahoma.

The lawyer said a federal suit may be filed to prevent discrimination against Negro teachers in integrated schools.

"The only Negro teacher at Newkirk has been fired, I learned Saturday," Hall said. "This one teacher taught the first six grades. High school students were transported to Ponca City. Newkirk will integrate next year."

Other school districts which have dismissed Negro teachers because of the ending of segregation, Hall said, include Pawnee, Perry, and Antlers. He said Perry fired 10 Negro teachers with masters' degrees and hired three white teachers with only bachelors' degrees.

Mrs. Vincent, former state president of the Parent Teacher Association, has secured the services of numerous local, district and state leaders in the organization. Mrs. Paul A. Blanchard of New Orleans has been invited to give the background of the Parent Teacher movement, with highlights of its history, and objectives. Mrs. J. S. Goff of Shreveport and president of the Louisiana Congress of Parent and Teachers, also will take an active part in the program.

Mrs. Edmund Conger, state committee chairman of citizenship and international relations, and Mrs. J. E. Hampson, secretary of the state organization and former visual aid chairman, will join Mrs. Goff to attend the conference.

Mrs. Blair, Mr. Causey and Mrs. Simpson also will participate in a panel on the roles of the teacher, principal, and parent, respectively, in the Parent Teacher Association.

2 Convicts Shot In Escape Try At Angola Prison

ANGOLA, La., July 9 (AP) — A guard standing at the top of a ravine picked off two escaped convicts tonight when they attempted to jump another guard leading a pack of bloodhounds.

One convict was critically injured the condition of the other was not known.

Warden Maurice Sigler, who reported the shooting, said a third convict is at large from the St. Gabriel prison farm.

The two who were shot escaped from the main penitentiary here, slipping through a guard line in the cane fields.

Sigler said Johnson Galloway, 24-year-old Negro sentenced to seven years for simple robbery and aggravated burglary in West Feliciana Parish, was in critical condition.

The condition of Willie Taylor, 31-year-old Negro sentenced to 20 years for habitual theft in Orleans Parish, was not known.

Sigler said a posse trailed the pair for seven hours through the Tunica Hills south of the penitentiary.

"Warning shots were fired three times," he said, "and each time they got away."

As the hunt wound down through a 30-foot deep ravine, he reported, the escapees took cover and attempted to jump the guard leading the dog pack.

"A guard standing at the top of the ravine took aim with his rifle and shot them both," the warden said.

He identified the St. Gabriel escapee as Robert Rushing, 24-year-old Negro sentenced to seven years for simple burglary in Ouachita Parish. Details of his break were not known.

The main penitentiary is located 75 miles northwest of Baton Rouge. St. Gabriel is about 30 miles south of Baton Rouge.

$172 Taken By 'Pigeon Droppers'

In spite of repeated warnings by police and the press, two Monroe Negro women lost $172 and two watches to "pigeon droppers" here Friday.

According to detectives the women told officers they were walking down DeSiard street about 1:30 p.m. Friday when they saw a Negro man "find" a wallet containing a large sum of money. The man stopped them and was asking their advice about what he should do with the wallet when a second Negro man walked up and entered the conversation.

Subsequently it was decided that the man would divide the money with them, but he thought it best to consult his boss first. He said he would then return and divide the money with the two women. However, to insure their faith he asked that they permit him to hold a sum of their money until the "find" was divided.

The women agreed and gave him $172 and their watches.

They agreed to meet them at the post office at 3 p.m. and give them their share of the money.

The women were at the designated place at the time specified. Three hours later they were still waiting, and had become suspicous. At 6:30 p.m. they decided to notify police. It was then they learned they had been swindled.

Yesterday detectives were still searching for the man who "found" the wallet and so "generously" offered to divide its contents, and his friend. However, the five and a half hours that elapsed between the time the women had given him their money and watches and when they notified police gave the pigeon droppers more than ample time to get out of town.

At Millsaps School

Parents To Meet Today In Protest Over Assignment

Parents of Millsaps elementary school students are scheduled to hold a mass meeting at the school at 2 p.m. today for the purpose of electing a committee to take the group's grievance over the removal of Clifford Roberts as principal to the parish school board. Roberts, who has been principal of Millsaps for 10 years, last week was reassigned to Ransom School for the coming year. Mrs. Tina Clark has been assigned as principal of Millsaps school.

M. O. Bradley, a member of the citizen's committee working for the retention of Roberts asserted last night that the group had no grievanve about Mrs. Clark, or anyone else who would be assigned to Millsaps. "We all like Mrs. Clark and have the deepest respect for her," Bradley said, "but we desire to have Roberts reassigned as principal of Millsaps. He has been with us for 10 years, and has done an excellent job.

Roberts said he would refuse reassignment to Ransom elementary school.

Mrs. Clark, who was reported to be in town, could not be reached for comment. However, Bradley said the committee of which he is a member had talked to Mrs. Clark and explained that there is nothing personal involved in the group's action. "It's merely that we like Roberts and wish to retain him," Bradley reiterated.

Invitations have been extended to School Board President J. H. Trousdale, Jr., and members Hugh Balfour, Walter Bennett, and Charles G. Wall to attend the meeting, Bradley said. He explained that Wall was out - of-town, but that the others are expected to be present.

Meanwhile, six petitions protesting Robert's transfer were reported being circulated among the parents of Millsaps pupils.

The citizen's committee, which was appointed by Mrs. Ralph Murphy, president of Millsaps P-T.A. consists of Bradley, Tige Mullins, James Cash, Roy Cash, Marlin Hattaway and Earl Duncan.

Chicago Police Continue Search For Sex Killer

CHICAGO, July 9—UP—Police continued their most intensive search in nine years Saturday seeking the vicious sex killer of eight-year-old Mary Manzo.

Primary objects of the manhunt by more than 100 policemen were two juveniles and a scar - faced adult.

One of the juveniles, a 16-year-old, was living with foster parents just 3 blocks from where the little girl's beaten and ravished body was found in a debris - littered underpass Thursday. Police said the youth had been convicted of raping a five-year-old girl.

The second juvenile, about 15, molested a six-year-old girl in the neighborhood May 17.

The scar-faced man was seen talking to Mary after she left a neighborhood drugstore Monday evening and disappeared.

Police said they have questioned more than 3,000 families in the area of the girl's South Side home hoping to track down witnesses or leads in the almost clueless slaying.

Detectives Probe Store Burglary

City detectives yesterday were investigating the Friday night burglary of McDanell's Gorcery, 3001 Renwick street.

The burglary was reported yesterday morning by W. W. McDanell, proprietor of the store, who said the establishment had been entered sometime between midnight Friday and 7 a.m. yesterday. He said the juke box had been broken into, $25.30 in change was taken and a small amount of whiskey was missing.

Detectives also reported the jailing of two West Monroe youths on a forgery charge. They were identified by officers as Ellender Lee Bishop and Robert Elliott, both 20 years old. They were arrested by West Monroe police, Thursday in connection with theft of a battery, detectives said. At the time three checks, one for $20 and the others for $15, were reported to have been found in their possession.

Under questioning detectives said, the pair admitted forging the checks and said they had attempted to cash one of them at a Monroe restaurant.

They were transferred to the parish jail and charged with forgery.

The Week In Finance

B WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—Where's that summer slump?

You'd have to look hard this week to find any real signs of a business letdown.

Most of the evidence pointed in the opposite direction. For example:

The steel industry, its labor difficulties settled, boosted prices by an average of $7.50 a ton and scheduled a 26 per cent rise in production.

Auto output shot back into high gear after a July Fourth breather; manufacturers were aiming at a July quota of 650,000 cars.

Wall Street was goaded into a burst of feverish activity by news that General Motors planned a stock split. The market soared, then backtracked on profit-taking.

On Main Street, retail merchants reported a continuing boom in women's apparel was so good that plans for postholiday clearance sales were temporarily abandoned.

All this happened as wide areas of the nation experienced their hottest weather of the year.

Adding fuel to the fire was a rash of reports out of Washington telling of records being smashed right and left June employment at an all-time high; construction activity in June higher than in any previous month.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell jubilantly announced that total civilian employment in June set a new mark of 64 million.

"We can expect increased employment and declining unemployment in the fall," said he. "This should be the best year in history for American Labor."

Unemployment increased only 200,000 from May to June—one of the smallest jumps for this time of year since World War II. Mitchell's explanation: High school and college students, who usually swell the labor force in June, are finding jobs more quicky.

A big "if" loomed before consumers this week—the question of what effect the steel price hikes would have on living costs and family budgets. Best guess seemed to be: The impact, if there's any at all, will be so slight that you'll scarcely feel it.

Clifford F. Hood, president of United states Steel corp., the world's biggest steel producer, put it this way:

Egyptian Oil Venture Proves Economic Model

LOS ANGELES, July 9 (AP)—An oil firm, operating almost within the shadows of famed Mount Sinai, is proving a model economic venture among six nationalities and developing important oil reserves for Egypt.

Two officials of a company which holds the drilling contract for the International Egyptian Oil Co. returned this week from the Sinai Peninsula oil fields. They described the close collaboration among Belgian, Italian, American, and Swiss owners and technicians, additional French engineers and native tribes of Egypt acting as laborers.

Tyler F. Woodward and Robert G. Bundy of the Southern California Petroleum Co., driller for International, said the IOEC oilfields are in a hot, dry area along the east shore of the Gulf of Suez, 85 miles south of Suez City.

Production has been started, said Southern Cal's Bill Mannon, under the Egyptian government's authorization of additional foreign investment in oil exploration and production there.

It's almost a little United Nations," Mannon said, "with the IEOC stockholders consisting of a Swiss syndicate, Interbondle; a Belgian refinery, Petrofine; the AGIP, an Italian government controlled agency, and American interests of Blair Holdings of New York and Southern California Petroleum."

Headon Clash Between U. S., Louisiana Set In Offshore Oil Leasings

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, July 9 (AP)—Louisiana and the federal government meet head-on Tuesday with billions in offshore oil wealth as the prize and the oil companies in the middle.

Some 80,000 miles apart, both will ask bids for mineral leases on the same 29 tracts in the Gulf of Mexico off the coast of Louisiana.

In all, the Interior Department will open bids on 210 tracts off the coast of Louisiana and Texas. More than two-thirds of the 674,000 acres of submerged lands are off south Louisiana.

The Bureau of Land Management of the Interior Department will open the federal bids in New Orleans. The State Mineral Board meets in Baton Rouge. Both start at 10 a.m.

The disputed tracts are between three miles and three leagues (10.5 miles) rom the Louisiana coast. Louisiana claims three leagues as its "historic boundaries," just as do Texas and Florida.

The federal government says Louisiana is limited to three miles. Attorney General Brownell has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to limit the state to three miles.

But with state and federal governments scrapping in the "Twilight Zone," the oil companies have a tough decision to make.

If they bid on federal leases, the state flatly promises to bring into court anybody seeking to "exploit or develop" offshore lands "without a lease, license, contract or other permission from the state of Louisiana."

And while the federal government has made no such flat statement, law suits also can be expected if the companies buy a state lease.

The "Twilight Zone" between three miles and three leagues contains about five million acres and is estimated to hold several billion barrels of oil and huge reserves of natural gas, sulphur and other minerals.

If the oil companies don't enter into the bidding they may miss oil reserves worth many millions.

In the past, the bids have been high for offshore leases.

Louisiana netted nearly 60 million in bonuses for leases on 103,162 acres in offshore areas in the past year.

The federal government has leased 285,000 acres outside the three league limit for nearly 130 million.

Indications are the State Mineral Board would be content if no bids were received on the disputed tracts in either New Orleans or Baton Rouge.

Chairman John Olvey of Shreveport insisted the federal government was "just trying to strengthen their case" in offering the tracts for bids.

Several times Olvey has said the state would withdraw from bidding if the federal government would do the same.

"The state just can't sit back and let them lease it," he said. We're forced to act to protect the interests of the Louisiana taxpayers."

Until recently a "gentlemen's agreement" prevented leasing in the area.

Neither state nor federal government have indicated whether they have received any bids in the disputed area.

Mineral Board officials note they often received most of their bids near the deadline.

A further complication is the fact the state and the federal government can't agree on a coastline for Louisiana.

The federal version sticks pretty close to the shoreline—the "wet-dry" line.

Louisiana officially defines the line according to an act of the 1954 Legislature which uses Coast Guard navigational markers and extends 30 miles beyond the federal line in some places.

But the Mineral Board uses another line to compute offshore tracts put up for bids. This line follows the shoreline except for inland waters—and Louisiana has many bays and inlets. Then it jumps from headland to headland.

Witness Fails To Show Up At Trial

Five of the women scheduled to testify failed to show up.

Teenager Admits Sexual Assault, Slaying Of Tot

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 9 (AP)—The nude body of blonde, blue-eyed, 4-year-old Patricia Johnson—sexually abused and slain with an ax—was found yesterday in a shallow grave in the cellar of the house next door to her home.

Hillsborough County Solicitor Conrad Danais said that next-door neighbor Walter Bourque Jr., 17, a shoe worker, admitted attacking the little girl sexually and then killing her when she said: "I'm going to tell my mother."

Little Patricia had been the object of an intensive search since she last was seen by her father Wednesday playing in front of their Douglas Street home. Police said the slender, dark-haired Bourque had been a volunteer searcher for the girl.

Danais quoted Bourque as saying he lured the child into the cellar of his home about 3:30 p.m., Wednesday. There, Danais said, the youth abused her sexually and she told him she was going to tell her mother.

Bourque grabbed an ax, Danais said, and struck the little girl twice on the head and once in the back. The county solicitor said Patricia was dead about 15 minutes after she entered the cellar.

Danais quoted Bourque as saying he put the girl's body in a 2½-foot deep hole in the earth-floor cellar, covered it with dirt and placed a window screen over the grave.

Concordia School Board To Decide Operation Plans

VIDALIA, July 9 (Special) — In the hands of the Concordia parish school board executive committee lie preliminary decisions on whether Concordia parish will change its school operations from a district to a parish-wide basis.

The executive committee will make a study of two reports—one on the needs of the parish schools and the other on the amount of money that could become available to the parish through the bond issues. The committee will report back to a special meeting of the school board in August.

This decision was made at a meeting of the school board here Thursday in the offices of Hugh A. Bateman, parish superintendent with W. D. Wactor, Ferriday, presiding.

John Cox, New Orleans bond attorney, told school board members that under 1955 assessments, if the parish would change its district form into a parish - wide administrative form, a total of $1,625,000 in bonds could be issued.

A two million - dollar building program is under consideration for the parish schools.

Texas To Receive Most Of Vaccine Newly Released

NEW YORK, July 9—UP—Some 223,000 newly released shots of Salk polio vaccine will go to Texas as soon as the maker turns it over to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the foundation disclosed Saturday.

The government announced in Washington Friday it had cleared the shots for use in the almost stalled mass inoculation program.

Dr. G. Foard McGinniess, foundation medical director, said the vaccine has not yet been made available to it by the Wyeth Laboratories. When it is received, he said, Texas will have first priority because Texas is the only southern state which has not yet received vaccine for the second inoculations of first and second-grade school children.

Vaccine is allocated by the foundation on a south-to-north schedule. Eight southern states have received the Salk vaccine for the second round of shots.

The Washington announcement Friday said 300,000 shots had been released under the rigid new safety standards put into effect May 26.

But McGinness said the net figure will be closer to 223,000 doses. He explained that 300,000 was the total made up in this particular bulk lot. Deductions result from packaging losses, from a 10 per cent "overfill" needed to make sure that the full dose of one cubic centimeter will be available for each shot, and from the withholding of samples for testing and record purposes.

When the vaccine will be made available by Wyeth is uncertain, McGinness said. It is not expected to be shipped before Monday at the earliest, however.

Wheat Leads In Grain Markets; Climbs 5 Cents

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP) — Wheat forged up for gains which extended to a little more than 5 cents in a big trade on the Board of Trade this week.

Other gains didn't do nearly as well as wheat. Corn, oats and rye barely held their own. Soybeans retreated.

Wheat closed the week 2½-5¼ higher, corn unchanged to ⅞ lower, oats ⅛-½ higher, rye ¼ lower to ¼ higher, soybeans ¼-3¾ lower and lard 38 cents lower to 3 cents a hundred pounds higher.

U. S. Agriculture Dept. Raps Excessive Sanitary Laws On Milk Production

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Milk costs too much in some parts of the nation because of excessive sanitary regulations and other rules, the Agriculture Department reported today.

It estimated that such regulations add the equivalent of one to two cents a quart to the price to consumers.

While emphasizing the need for sanitary controls, the department said a two-year study by its economic experts had shown that they "hinder or prevent the movement of milk into a substantial number of cities."

"Some markets prohibit outright the entry of milk from beyond specified limits," the report said. "Others burden such entry by insisting on their own inspection and they delay or refuse to inspect, or levy discriminatory fees."

On the other hand, the department said that where sanitary regulations are "consistent with requirements most widely regarded as essential" they do not "unduly burden the movement of milk." It added:

"In a majority of cities sanitary regulations either were not considered to be unduly restrictive, or did not result in prices out of line with those at potential sources of supply."

The study was authorized because of sharp criticism by some producer and consumer groups of milk marketing regulations.

A House Agriculture subcommittee has been holding hearings to determine whether Congress should act to ease the restrictions.

The department said that if regulations were modified in areas where they are excessive, the prices received by about 25 per cent of the nation's fluid milk producers would probably decline an average of about 48 cents a hundred pounds, or about one cent a quart.

In some markets, the department said, the declines would range up to about two cents a quart. Normally, each reduction of about 50 cents a hundred in producer prices means a retail price decrease of one cent a quart.

Easing of regulations would have the effect of making larger supplies available in the market area, and the resulting competition would bring about retail price reductions, it said.

Producers and consumers who would be affected by these price declines would be largely those in and around cities and other regulated marketing areas where rigid restrictions are now in effect. Th department did not list these areas except to say that they are scattered throughout the country.

ATTLEE, WIFE ESCAPE INJURY

LONDON, July 9—UP—Former Laborite Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his wife were involved in a collision of their car and a bus Friday. They escaped injury.

Girl Scouts Fund Drive Chairman Describes Work

With the present fund campaign of the Girl Scouts now in progress, Mrs. George Forman, general chairman of the drive, this week told of the work of the organization during the past and urged support for the coming year. In making the announcements, the chairman pointed out that the funds for this drive are to be used during the coming year, and will in "absolutely no way" be used to pay workers in either the campaign or in the scout movement.

"I would like to point out here and now," Mrs. Forman said, "that all adult leaders in both the campaign and in the Girl Scout Movement are on a voluntary-no pay basis. This, we feel, is the reason for the success of this particular movement."

The separate drive by the Girl Scouts organization was necessitated this year with the closing of the Community Chest on June 30.

Organized in Monroe during the World War II years, the group is an outgrowth of the desire of many young girls to do something for the war effort. Under the leadership of Miss Myrtle Rodgers, retired city school principal, the now girl scout organization was at the time designed to aid in this effort. Shortly afterwards, the group became the girls scouts of Monroe and West Monroe.

During the past year the Girl Scout organization has served some 500 girls throughout the Twin Cities ranging in ages from the second grade to the senior grades in high schools. These are broken into three separate categories—Brownie units, from the second to fourth grades; Intermediates, fifth to eighth grades and the senior Girl scouts, from the eighth grade through high school.

Troop meetings, under competent leadership, are held each week during which the girls work on one of the eleven fields of interest. Briefly, these are under four main categories - arts, out of doors, citizens here and abroad, and homemaking.

In the arts category are studies in music, dancing, dramatics, fine art and allied studies. Through the process of obtaining merit badges in this field, the average girl scout gets a good background for studies which will aid her in later school years. Many of the courses used for obtaining merit badges in this field, are copied by teachers in the upper grades of elementary schools and high schools for their lessons.

In the second category - that of out of doors - the girls study all phases of nature, in addition to learning games and out-door singing an almost forgotten pastime of yesteryear.

The third category, citizenship, deals with the field which is later studied in civic and government courses in high school. Through this activity, the young girl scouts receive a basic knowledge of the workings of the government and the responsibilities which they will assume upon maturity.

Homemaking, the final basic category, is self - explanatory in that it deals with sewing, cooking, personal health and safety and similar problems, Mrs. Forman said.

However, although a girl passes all of the other requirements for a merit badge, the scout is not eligible until she uses the knowledge gained to help someone else. With this basic requirement, the girl scout must do a good deed for another before she his recognized for the work.

"All in all," Mrs. Forman said, "the girl scout gets a good fine arts education by simply 'doing her scout work."

British Woman Fights Detention By Czech Police

LONDON, July 9 (AP) — Britain found a new heroine yesterday in a British-born mother who is battling to get out of Communist Czechoslovakia and back to London with her three young children.

She is Mrs. Phyllis Sispera, 32, a Czech citizen through marriage, detained with her children in Prague. Her detention has resulted in two angry official British protests to Czechoslovakia within a week.

British newspapers are splashing a story of how Mrs. Sispera stood up to a 48-hour grilling by Czech secret police. The police sought to persuade her to stay in Czechoslovakia.

"Mrs. Sispera's courage in holding out for freedom will arouse pride and admiration in Britain," Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said editorially in a typical comment.

Mrs. Sispera married Jaroslav Sispera in 1941 when he was serving as an officer in the British Royal Air Force. Sispera was later jailed on treason charges by the Communist Czech government and Mrs. Sispera was compelled by the Reds to divorce him. Their children, all born in England, are in a Prague children's home.

Mrs. Sispera has been trying to return to Britain since 1948 and once was imprisoned for 10 months for attempting to leave Czechoslovakia illegally.

Cotton Futures Show Steadiness

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP)—The cotton futures market displayed an undertone of steadiness this week. Price changes either way were small.

All deliveries except current July finished in the plus column. Prices at the close of trading on the New York Cotton Exchange ranged from 25 cents a bale lower to 50 cents higher than at the end of the previous week.

Strength was imparted to the market by private estimates indicating less than 17 million acres of cotton under cultivation. Gains were whittled lown by light hedge selling and profit -taking.

The official acreage report of the U S. Department of Agriculture, released Friday, differed only slightly from private estimates made public earlier in the week. According to the official report, cotton plantings on July 1 approximated 17,096,000 acres. That was 1,063,000 acres, or 5.9 per cent, below the national allotment of 18,159,000.

The July 1 total showed a decline of 2,695,000 acres, or 14 per cent, from year-ago levels, and New York Cotton Exchange officials noted it was the smallest acreage under cultivation since the early 1880s.

Exports for the week ended Tuesday were estimated at 47,000 bales, vs. 61,000 the previous week and 80,000 a year ago. This would raise the total for the season to 3,494,000 bales, against 3,595,000 at the same time last year.

Tuna Boat Sinks, Crew Is Rescued

PANAMA, July 9—UP—The California tuna boat Western Pacific was reported sunk Saturday in a storm off Panama's Pacific coast.

The 150-foot ship belonged to the Southern Pacific canning Co. of Long Beach, Calif. Local agents for the vessel reported that its crew was picked up by another boat now en route to Costa Rica.

Record High And Sharp Drop Seen In Stock Market

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP) — The stock market swung into the second half of 1955 this week with new record peaks and a sharp fall.

The break from the top looked to some brokers like a stage setting for the year's fourth corrective reaction.

So far this year the stock market has been set back three times with reactions that wiped out a major portion of the previous advance.

But each time the market has halted its drop well short of distress levels and has started ahead stronger than ever.

The reactions have come at evenly spaced intervals and have followed the same general pattern. Such reactions are normal in the stock market and generally retrace one-third to two-thirds of previous gains.

Brokers noted that the market had reached a high level that on previous occasions proved favorable for selling. In fact, the current upward thrust of the market this week had gone farther than the others. All that made for caution, and the market eventually became a highly selective affair.

Despite the severe setback, however, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 40 cents on the week, its eighth straight weekly advance, and closed at $174.00. At that level it was $2.40 under its record high level.

The week ended with a broad mixture of gains and losses with lsoers holding the edge slightly but with prices up a shade on average.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were General Motors up 15 to 124⅝ on 340,000 shares, U.S. Steel off ½ at 54⅜, Chrysler up 5½ at 85⅜, Sperry Rand off ½ at 27⅞, and Olin Mathieson Chemical up 7⅛ at 64¾.

U. S. government bonds firmed this week after the treasury came out with its long-awaited summer financing plans.

A-Bomb, Good Or Bad, Is 10 Years Old This Week

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Reporter

Ten years ago this week man terrified himself by winning a monumental scientific victory.

He produced an atomic weapon. Now he has lived with it for a nervous decade, watching its mounting power and numbers dominated political decisions, remake the art of war and threaten him each day with extinction.

The United States made the weapon first because it won a race with Nazi scientists. For five years the weapon belonged exclusively to the United States. No one expected it would remain forever exclusive, but Russia learned its secrets far faster than was forecast.

Today atomic weapons exist by the thousands, a family so diversified that one member can be used merely to blow out an enemy airfield or another to vaporize the biggest city.

Their blasts can wipe out great masses of humanity in an instant and threaten countless others with lingering death from radioactivity. Spreading out over thousands of square miles. They can unleash heat greater than that of the sun itself.

The atomic weapon age opened at Alamogordo, N.M., on July 16, 1945, like a Wagnerian opera. Pitch darkness, storm, lightning, pealing thunder greeted the band of men who came to the desert at night to test their weapon. It was an omen for the anxious decade ahead.

The band of scientists and military men who gathered on a lonely corner of the sprawling Alamogordo air base, 120 miles southeast of Albuquerque, was small by comparison with the tens of thousands who were to conduct tests in later years, but their names now are famous.

Heading the Manhattan District, the very name of which was high secret, was Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, with Brig. Gen. Thomas F. Farrell as his deputy. Both were Army engineers. The command was military, but much of the personnel was civilian—men like Doctors Robert Oppenheimer, Vannevar Bush, R. F. Bacher, James Conant, Enrico Fermi, Alvin C. Graves and K. T. Bainbridge. Since 1940, these scientists had been working toward the goal of creating explosion by fission of atoms.

Now all the years of calculations, of theories, of laboratory tests, of refining uranium, of building huge and secret plants were past. The moment for proof had arrived.

Four nights before, in an old ranch house, the scientists had started putting together the components of the first bomb, the explosive charge, the rudimentary trigger. What they assembled represented a two-billion-dollar government investment.

Two days before scheduled shot time, they had hoisted the bulky, instrument-festooned gadget to the top of a steel tower. The time set for the detonation "S-hour" (shot hour) was 4 a.m., but when that hour arrived a violent thunderstorm was whipping the area. The timetable was reset to 5:30 a.m.

The closest observers were stationed in a timber and earth dugout almost six miles from the bomb site, where the controls for the test were situated. At another point, nearly 10 miles distant, Groves, Bush and some of the other top officials took their stand.

The storm had rumbled away into the distance. The count-down began, first measures in minutes, then shrinking to seconds. Tension then shrinking to seconds.

Then came a swiftly mounting, unearthly white light, the punch of a racing shock wave and the grumbling roar of the explosion.

Success! Success that exceeded all estimates!

What did some of those atomic pioneers think about in that moment of victory?

Groves, now a retired lieutenant general, says:

"My first reaction when the explosion occurred was naturally one of pleased relief. But I did not, as did most of my scientific associates, I believe, regard it in any way as the climax. It was more of a 'Well, we're over that hurdle' feeling. After a moment of interchanging congratulations with Dr. Bush and Dr. Conant and a few others, I turned my attention to the immediate problem of making certain that the fall-out danger was under control and that the press reports of the explosion were localized to the maximum extent possible.

"As to my retrospective views, I doubt if they are much different than my feelings at the time. I feel now as I did then, that the means of waging war had been revolutionized and that war would now be too terrible for any nation to engage in if its enemy had atomic weapons in quantity and the means to deliver them."

Farrell, now a retired major general, remembers:

"I do not expect to be so moved again until I approach the gates of heaven. The scientists who knew all about the atom were as deeply affected as we unlearned ones to whom all this was new and strange.

"I thought, we now have a sure and rapid means of ending the war in the Pacific. The whole business of war will be revolutionized. We should now get on with the business of making ready and delivering these weapons to the enemy and ending the war.

"This great new source of energy will impose an awful responsibility on those who control it.

"Now, 10 years later, I think: The world still has the choice of using this force for good or evil. The revolution in making war has not yet been fully realized. The potential for damage of the new weapons is so great that it may become self-controlling. Who will want to start the kind of a war in which there will be no victor—only vanquished?"

JO ANN HENDERSON

Monroe Woman On La. College Staff

PINEVILLE, July 9 (Special) — Miss Jo Ann Henderson, 23-year-old native of Monroe, has been named to the 1955-56 Louisiana college faculty as instructor in home economics, according to announcement from President G. Earl Guinn.

She is a 1950 graduate of Neville High school in Monroe.

Judge Frees Man Who Pawns Funds

CHICAGO, July 9 —UP—A puzzled judge Friday turned loose a man who pawns money.

Judge Emmet Morrisey received the case of Joseph K. Johnson, 43, a butcher who admitted hocking between $750 and $1,000 in the last year.

Johnson admitted taking a loss, getting only $27.50 from pawnbrokers for each $30 hocked, but said he had a "sentimental" attachment for his cash and liked to be able to get back the same bills.

Police seized Johnson on the complaint of pawnbrokers that he was not redeeming his pawn tickets and they thought there must be something illegal about pawning money.

Authorities thought so too, but couldn't find anything to charge Johnson with except disorderly conduct.

Morrissey, somewhat nettled that the case was brought before him at all, pondered and dismissed the charge.

"There's something in the wind here, but I can't seem to smell it," the judge said.

'Sweet And Light' Technique Used By Revenuers

By RICHARD E. MOONEY

WASHINGTON, July 9 —UP— The letter writingest department in the whole government is turning to sweetness and light.

And when that department is the Internal Revenue Service, "sweetness" means its letters are not so frightening and "light" means the average taxpayer can understand them.

The change in correspondence techniques was sparked by tax Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews. All the major tax offices have now revamped their techniques, and smaller offices will have done so by next year.

Another wrinkle in the streamlining is a wrinkle indeed. In the first two months of a six-month experiment, one million letters were thrown away. They would have been saved in files under the old system. The discarded letters deal with such things as a simple request for a tax return form, or a "where's my refund?" inquiry.

As for answering these refund queries, the service has devised a two - sentence, two - cent, printed postcard telling the taxpayer the refunds are being processed as rapidly, and that all should be in the mail by a certain date. It tells him to inquire again after that date if he still hasn't heard.

This replaced a longer mimeographed letter which included a paragraph on the mountain of refund work the service must do each spring.

Internal revenue turns out 12 million-plus letters a year. It receives twice as many, but half require no answer. In addition, it receives more than 60 million tax returns.

To handle the answering problem, the service has 208 new form letters, all printed, and 93 so-called "pattern letters."

The letters are so arranged that a typist can grind them out three times as fast as before, making inserts where necessary to a particular situation. The speed specialists have perfected the system to the point where the shorter letters need only to be folded once to fit into an envelope. The letter paper is marked where the fold is to be made.

For the letters which must be written separately because they don't fit the forms or paterns, Internal Revenue has a set of "don'ts" which start out by instructing the writer not to start a letter to do a taxpayer with the words "reference is made..." And no to quote legal language.

There are two new approaches to the matter of a taxpayer not having filed a return. Instead of saying "our record indicate you have not filed," Internal Revenue now says, "we cannot find your return." And in one sample it asks, "Have you filed?"

The simplification has resulted in some changes in tax procedure, such as what to do if you file a return, then file an amended return, and then receive a refund check on the first return. If the check is smaller than the refund you claimed in your second (amended) return, go ahead and cash it; the rest will follow. If it is bigger than your final claim, send it back please.

Formerly, taxpayers were instructed to return the check in any case.

The streamlining prompted a Los Angeles worker to paraphrase the bard: "Friends, typists, correspondence clerks, lend me your ears. I come to bury formality, not to praise it. The misunderstanding that you cause lives after you; your intention is often buried in your words, so let us be without it."

Arkansas Town Ends Segregation In Public Schools

HOXIE, Ark., July 9 (AP)—School opens here Monday and for the first time in the area's history Negroes and whites will attend the same classes.

This will give Hoxie's school system a distinctly new look in east Arkansas, but Superintendent K. E. Vance today said:

"We are making no special preparations and are expecting no trouble of any kind."

"We will try to begin the new program without fanfare," he added. "No special attention will be paid to the Negro students. It is our intention to treat every Negro and white child alike."

The elementary and high schools will be completely integrated, with Negro and white children on the same status in classrooms, lunchrooms, on playgrounds and in school buses.

Hoxie (pop. 1,855) is the first town in east Arkansas, where the state's Negro population is most heavily concentrated, to voluntarily lower racial barriers in schools. However, this town's Negro population is relatively small.

There will be about 15 Negro students in the elementary school, about 10 in high school. Total enrollment of both schools is about 1,000.

The school board's decision, Vance said, was based on these considerations:

1. Integration is "right in the sight of God." 2. Obedience to the Supreme Court ruling that segregation in public schools is unconstitutional. 3. It's cheaper.

The early "fall" term is customary in rural schools in the cotton belt. The split year enables schools to close during the height of the cotton chopping and picking seasons, freeing students to work in the fields.

Coffee Growers In Fear Of Winter Cold

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 9—UP—Coffee growers feared Saturday that the cold snap may cause frost damage to their vast crops.

A frigid air mass spread across Southern Brazil Friday, driving temperatures below freezing in 20 communities of Rio Grande do Sul state. At Vacaria the mercury dropped to 24 degrees, a record low for Brazil this year.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The Cotton States League Sports Writers Association, which has annually selected the All-Star teams for the circuit's mid-summer classic with no more trouble than arguments from some staunch fans because their pet players failed to get elected, has drawn the displeasure of Judge Emmet Harty, the Greenville, Miss., boss of the league, who has threatened to have the job done all over again tomorrow afternoon just a few hours ahead of the 8 p.m. start of the All-Star game at El Dorado.

Unless Judge Harty has been the victim of some misquotes, the press notices say he has declared the sports writers' selections "unofficial" and "premature." He has also been quoted as saying (last Thursday) that he will hold a class tomorrow afternoon in El Dorado to "teach those stupid sports writers how to pick an All-Star team."

The judge, who later said he was only conducting a "kidding match" when referring to the writers' mental capacities, has come up with the idea that El Dorado players, who are due to work against the stars of the other five clubs because their team was leading the league after July 4, should have been named in the All-Star selections. Since no El Dorado players will be permitted to play for the All-Stars, the writers made their selections from what they considered the best from the other five clubs.

But the judge insists El Dorado players be named, too. We feel his idea presents a problem in itself. What if his plan had been followed and Jim Davenport, third baseman, Lee Neyman, second base, and Bob Strunak, first base, had been unanimous choices for their spots. They would still have to play for El Dorado. The All-Stars would be without the three elected infielders unless some sudden polling was conducted late to elect somebody from the other five clubs. The writers beat this possibility when they made their selections immediately after El Dorado clinched the right to host the game.

Mr. Harty says the team will be selected "according to the rules" at a meeting Monday afternoon when he'll teach the writers how the job should be done.

The already elected team, which the judge called "unofficial," had only two unanimous choices—Marshall Gilbert, first baseman, and Bill Drummond, pitcher, both of the Twin Cities Sports. Manager Ed Head of the Sports, who was barely nosed out of the right to host the stars, was named to pilot the All-Stars. In the infield with Gilbert were Hugh Glaze, second base, Greenville (we disagreed here as our ballot showed Bob Maness, just about the classiest second baseman in fielding and hitting we've ever seen in the C.S.L.); Ken Kortum, shortstop, Hot Springs; Ed Rippili, third baseman, Twin Cities; and Bernie Tomicki, utility, Meridian. Outfielders named were George Blash, Meridian, and Whitey Bragg and Rudy Mayling, both of Hot Springs. Luther Tucker, Greenville, and Wally Widholm, Vicksburg, were named as catchers, and supporting Drummond on the pitching staff were Dave Oliphant, Meridian; Bob Wiltse, Greenville, and Bob Shipman, Twin Cities.

We can't figure the judge's reasoning, or what "rules" the writers broke, but if he has his way tomorrow afternoon it will probably be "Harty's All-Stars" vs. El Dorado tomorrow night.

Maybe the judge has had too trying a year, what with having troubles that brought about franchise shifts from Pine Bluff to Meridian, and the current woes at Greenville, which club was taken over by the league when Wiilis Hudlin surrendered his franchise the past week, and the sudden splitting of the season into two halves.

And we haven't heard yet, officially, what the split season means or how it will figure in determining the playoff clubs at the close of the season. As far as we know, Judge Harty hasn't got around to announcing it yet. Unofficially, we hear that the split season doesn't mean a thing. The All-Star host was determined on an all-games played basis. It has been announced that the pennant winner will also be settled on all-games played. That leaves the one big question remaining. What four teams get into the playoffs?

When a club official here asked us to forget about the split season and return to use of a standing showing all games played, which would have the Sports looking better in those standings, we got the idea that the four playoff clubs are going to be those teams with the best over-all record for the full season. If this is so, then the split season really doesn't mean a thing, and some fans, like the folks in Vicksburg, may be the victims of a hoax. Vicksburg is looking better in the "second half," but the Bills (not including yesterday's games) are six and a half games behind fifth place Greenville in all-games played with only 24 wins against 46 losses. If best records for the full season determine the playoff clubs, Vicksburg is going to have to look a whole lot better to overtake the handicap. Should Vicksburg finish high in a close second half race, but not good enough to finish as high as fourth on a total-games basis, it's going to be hard to tell the followers of the Bills that they are out of contention.

4 Sports' Errors, Six Walks Account For 3 Bather Runs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., July 9 (Special)—The Ho. Springs Bathers only collected six hits off Twin Cities pitching here tonight, but six bases on balls, two wild pitches, and four costly infield errors helped them to a 5-2 victory. Two of the Bathers runs were earned, both coming as a result of a pair of doubles.

The Sports greeted Hot Springs' starter Rod Tangeman with three hits and one run in the top of the first, to go ahead 1-0. Bob Maness and Rod Kanel led off with singles, and with two out, Ed Rippili singled Maness home.

The Bathers tied it with a "gift" run in the next inning. Bob Shipman, Twin Cities' pitcher Bob Shipman issued a free pass to leadoff hitter Bill Anderson, who advanced to second on a ground-out, to third on a wild pitch, and scored on a ground ball error by Maness.

Hot Springs went ahead, 2-1, in almost the same manner in the fifth. Another error by Maness put the lead-off batter on, and an infield hit and a base on balls loaded the sacks. A second walk forced in the leadoff man with run number two.

Maness got revenge in the sixth. Leading off, his ground ball was thrown low from short to first and he was safe. Kanehl forced him at second, but Roy Mantle singled Rod to third, from where he scored on a groundout by Marshall Gilbert that tied it at 2-2.

Three Hot Springs' tallies came across in the sixth on a leadoff double, a sacrifice, a single, another double, and an error by Kanehl. The two earned runs of the frame were accounted for on doubles by Bill Brashier and Ken Hartman, a single by Kortum, and a sacrifice by catcher John Jonocha. The unearned run scooted home when Kanehl muffed a pop fly.

Giants Topple Dodgers, 10-2; Yanks Blank Nats, 4-0

Hearn's Pitching, Batting Too Much For Flatbushers

NEW YORK, July 9 (AP) — Big Jim Hearn, a .116 hitter until today, walloped two home runs and a run-scoring single as he pitched and batted the New York Giants to a 10-2 victory over the injury-riddled Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hearn evened his season record at 8-8, squared the current series between the interborough rivals at one apiece, and brought the fading 1954 world champions back up to the .500 level. The home runs were his third and fourth of the season and the four runs batted in doubled his previous total for the year.

The second round-tripper, an inside the park belt to the clubhouse in deep center field in the fifth inning, apparently took something out of the 205-pound right-hander, for the Dodgers' only runs came in the next inning.

Don Hoak opened the Dodger sixth with a single and took second as leftfielder Whitey Lockman fumbled the ball. He moved to third when Peewee Reese also singled. After Reese stole second, Dave Williams threw out Duke Snider while Hoak scored. Gil Hodges' sacrifice brought in Reese.

Hearn, gaining his second victory in three decisions with the Dodgers, spaced eight hits and was never in trouble after his second homer capped a six-run splurge and gave the Giants a 10-0 lead. The Giants blew a 6-0 lead last night to the Dodgers, but Hearn was having none of that today.

Roberts Tosses 3-Hitter; Phillies Defeat Bucs, 7-1

PITTSBURGH, July 9 (AP)—Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies gave up only three hits today—all in the second inning—as the Phils routed the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-1 with an 11-hit attack.

Roberts, who now has a record of 13 victories and seven defeats, set down the Pirates in 1-2-3 order in every inning except the second when the Pirates put together a triple and two singles to score a run.

He struck out four batters and didn't issue any walks.

Roberts also contributed to the Phils' attack as he swatted a home run with nobody on in the eighth inning. It was his first round-tripper of the season.

Hatton's Single Gives Bosox 5-4 Win Over Orioles

BOSTON, July 9 (AP)— Grady Hatton, Boston's "old pro," broke up a relief pitcher's duel between teammate Ellis Kinder and the Orioles' Jim Wilson today with an eighth inning single as the Red Sox edged Baltimore 5-4.

The Sox third baseman single scored Sammy White who opened with a triple off the wall near the flagpole in left center.

Kinder shared honors with Hatton by pitching himself in and out of trouble as the Sox regained their winning ways with victory No. 13 in their last 15 starts.

Turley Gives Only Two Hits; Mantle, Berra Bats Boom

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—Bob Turley's two-hit pitching was supported strongly by Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle today as the New York Yankees defeated Washington, 4-0.

Berra slammed his 15th home run, a triple and a double to bat across all four runs, while Mantle contributed a double and four singles for a perfect day.

Turley had a no-hitter until Pete Runnels singled to center with one out in the sixth inning. The Senator's other hit, a single by Clint Courtney, came with two out in the same inning—the only time Washington advanced a runner to second base.

Turley struck out four Senators in the first two innings, but none thereafter, to tie Cleveland's Herb Score for the major league strikeout lead at 130.

Mantle's single and Berra's triple off the right field fence pried a run for loser Johnny Schmitz in the first iming. Berra blasted his homer in the third inning after Mantle singled. Doubles by the same pair off Chuck Stobbs fetched the Yankees their final run in the ninth.

Berra and Mantle accounted for eight of the Yankees' 12 hits, with Andy Carey supplying two singles.

The shutout was the 16th dealt the Senators this season and the defeat was their 26th in 30 games.

Fields, Wright Tag Duos In Return Match Tues.

A return tag team match is scheduled for the Arena Tuesday night when Lee Fields again pairs with Frank Thompson against Karl Kowalski and Rube Wright in the feature event.

The main is again slated for the best-of-three falls to win, and has a 90-minute time limit. The feature will be preceeded by a pair of preliminaries between opposing team members, with Fields going against Wright and Thompson vs. Kowalski, or vice versa.

The short prelims will have a ten-minute time limit, and will require but one fall to win. All matches will be officiated by West Monroe's Bill Barney.

According to wrestling promoter Gus Kallio, the Fields-Thompson vs. Wright - Kowalski feature last week was one of the best matches ever seen here, and consisted of hard wrestling and exciting moments throughout.

Fields and Thompson won the event, and according to Kallio, everyone was well-pleased with the exception of Wright and Kowalski.

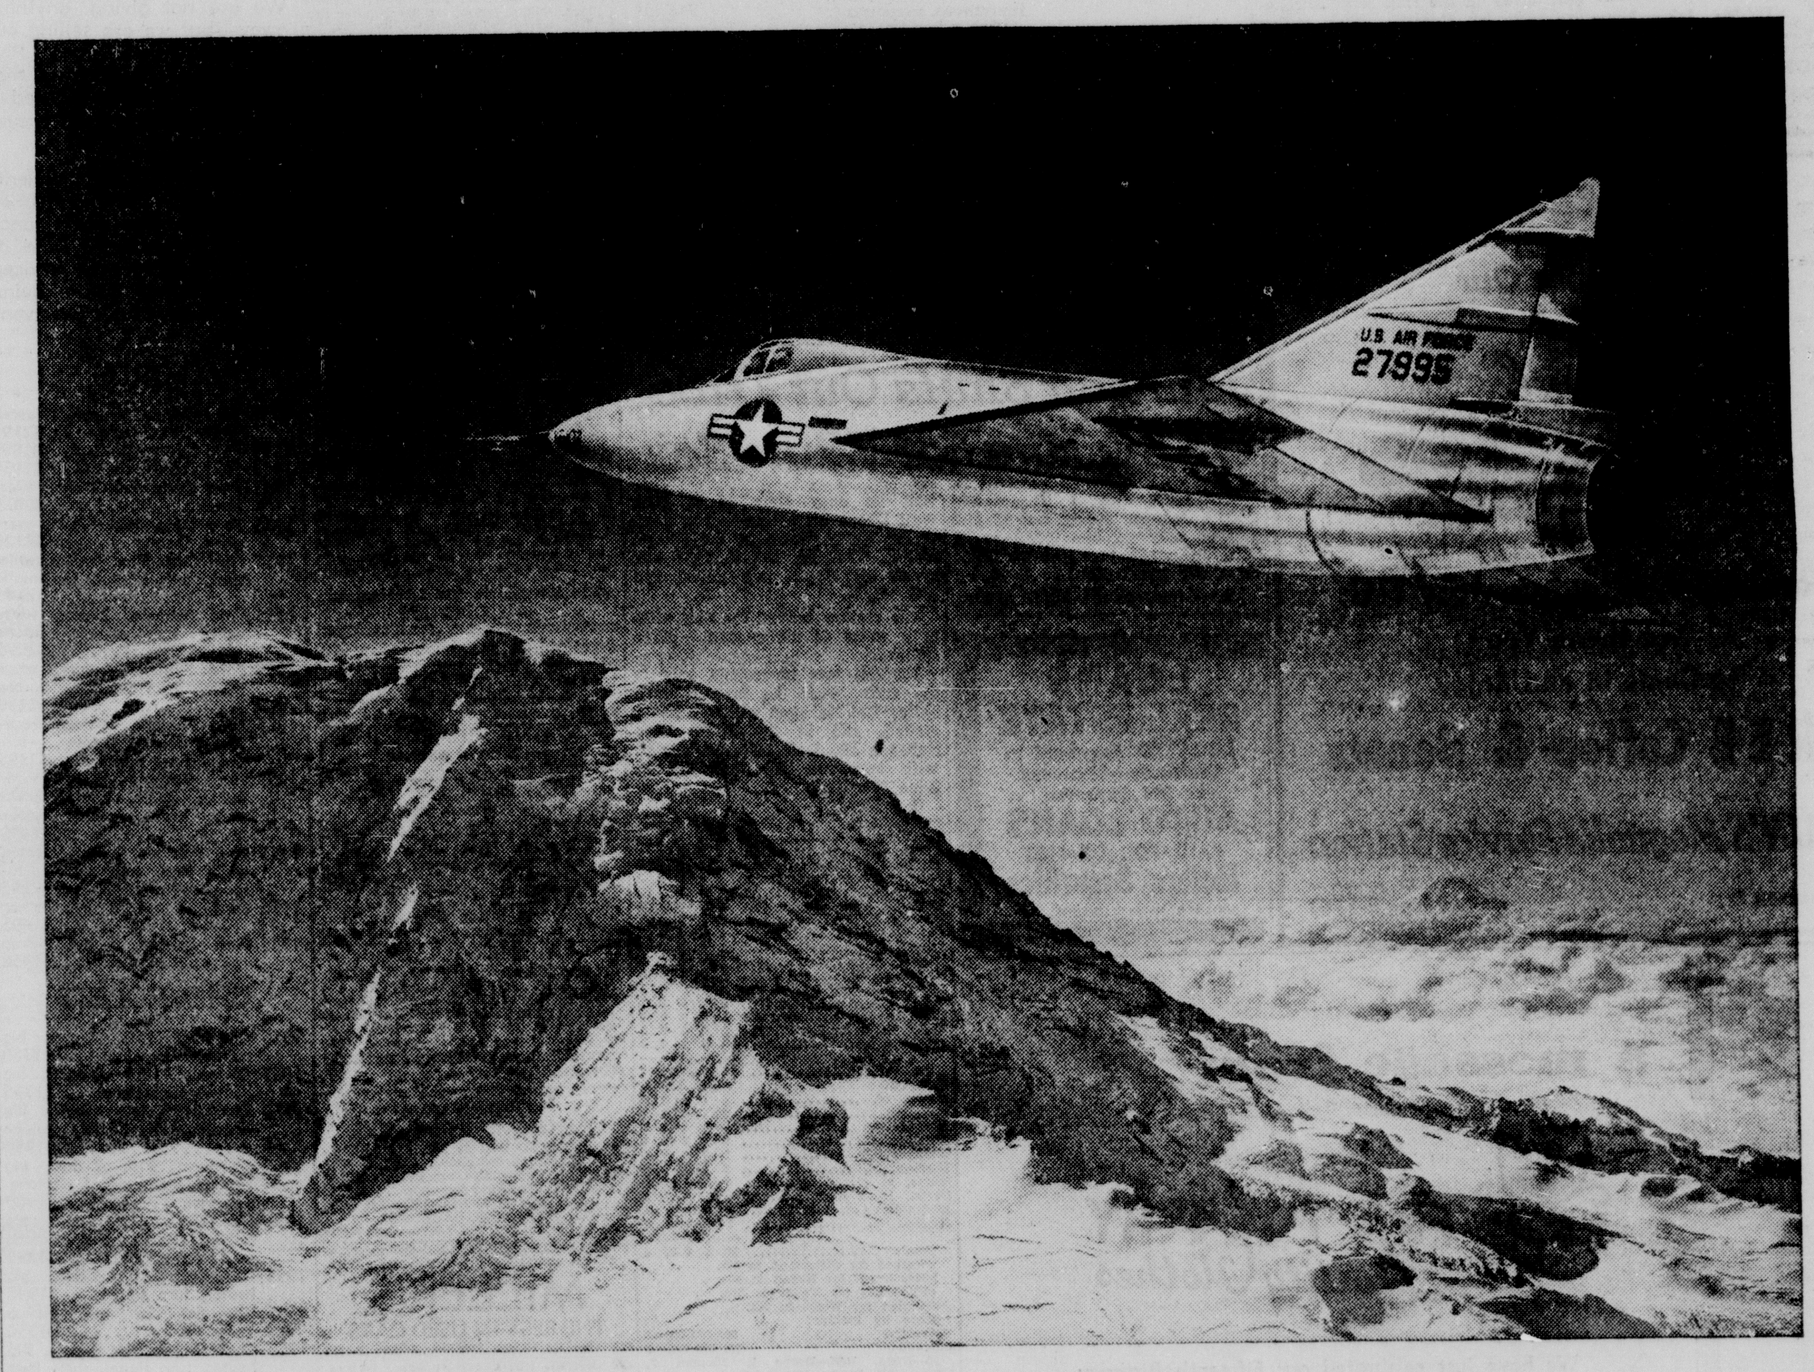

The former pair proved the fan favorites, and wrestled their usual scientific, crash - bang style, while the bearded villains resorted to rough tactics all the way.

Unleashing American Watchdogs

Jet planes that guard our skies from attack never sleep! Each time new, higher-powered jets roar into the sky, the heat of their power and the cold of the altitude create a terrific lubrication problem.

This problem couldn't be handled by any oil that ever existed before. Some bearings which absorb the tremendous thrust of jet power must be lubricated at 65° below zero! The same oil must guard the smooth operation of other bearings in the jet furnace at 450° above zero or higher.

Such an oil was "built" by scientists of Esso Research and Engineering Company to unleash these watchdogs of peace. Esso Research keeps pace with the needs of today . . . and anticipates the needs of tomorrow!

Nowhere else in the U.S.A. will you find such a concentration of petroleum knowledge. Esso Research sets the pace.

Every time you drive in to an Esso Dealer station, you get the full benefit of this knowledge in the Esso products you buy — plus the many helpful services of the Dealer, himself.

See your Esso Dealer regularly . . . for Happy Motoring!

ESSO STANDARD OIL COMPANY

An outstanding motor oil for today's cars is the product of Esso Research. It is called UNIFLO. It's the first motor oil ever developed specifically to reduce cylinder-head deposits and keep engines so clean they can deliver maximum power, mile after mile, month after month. There is no finer motor oil for today's cars!

The biggest plus you can give your car is Esso Research!

Rippili Holds His Edge In C. S. L. Batting Chase

By J. P. FRIEND
Cotton States Statistician

Monroe's Edward Rippili still leads the Cotton States League batting parade but he has serious competition for the moment and more appears to be developing.

The Twin Cities third baseman picked up two points with 24-9 during the week ending Tuesday night and has a .359-.353 advantage over the fast improving Jimmy Davenport, El Dorado collegian.

Davenport, former Mississippi Southern star, regained most of the ground lost the week before with a rousing 26-12 card during the seven-game period and closed the gap with a 16-point gain.

Rippili in 52 games posted 167-60 with 80 total bases and 31 runs batted it, as compared to Davenport's 207-73, 124 total bases and 35 rbi's. The Oiler rookie has 16 doubles, one triple and 11 four masters. Rippili, more the live-drive type of hitter, has three doubles and homers and four three baggers.

Bill Anderson, Hot Springs outfielder, may soon take over, based on the plate developments during his 25 games since joining the Bathers. The Spa newcomer is sporting a neat .394 with 99-39. Twelve of the connections, including two doubles and home run No. 4, came last week in only 26 times at bat that netted 24 decimals. He averaged a run batted in per game with 25.

Bob Maness, Twin City Sports, who has been up and down the .300 scale most of the year, went on another spree and came up with 29-13 and a 14-point boost to .333. Three sailed over the fence that ran his season total to 10, three behind leading Joe Lutz, Hot Springs manager (.327). Bob has 87 safeties, tied with Gordon Bragg, Hot Springs (.325).

Tim Hastings, Meridian slugger, lopped 10 points off his batting average with only 31-8 and settled for .329. He cracked out his 19th double July 2 and needed it to keep ahead in that department since Marshall Gilbert, Twin City Sports, is right behind with 18 and just a point away in batting at .328.

Gilbert bagged only six hits in 27 tries and went from .341 to .328 but 14 total bases, aided by his ninth and 10th homers, helped to maintain the total base lead with 141, and runs batted in, 63.

George Blash, Meridian, hit safely in all but one game with 32-8 and dropped into a six-place deadlock with Lutz, each with .327.

Rudy Mayling, Hot Springs, the triples pace setter (8) got back into the select group with a 13-point rise from .298 to .311 with 29-12. He also teed off with a brace of home runs. He now has nine and tied for second in total bases with 138, the same number boasted by Hastings.

Doug Kassay, Meridian (.252) stole four more bases to pull farther away in the race with Bill LeFever, El Dorado. The Miller speedster has 32 to 20 for the Oiler sprinter. Bragg is far back with 17. Kassay and Bragg have scored 68 times apiece.

Art Letteiri, El Dorado, indicates he should be rated as a strong contender for slugging honors. Three home runs in two days, July 2-3, gave him 12 so far, only one shy of Lutz's leading output.

Bill Drummond, Twin City Sports ace, whipped Vicksburg Saturday night, June 2, for his eighth win in nine decisions and kept out in front of the pitchers with .889 winning percentage. Bill Kirk, Hot Springs newcomer, got back on the winning road over Greenville the same night and is close behind with 5-1. Joe Blasko, El Dorado fireman, notched a pair in relief for an impressive 8-2 card. Tom Grant, Hot Springs, has 4-...

Dick Maibauer, El Dorado ace, went out in front as the winningest pitcher with triumphs over Greenville and Monroe, that put him in the 11-3 class. The former leader, Bob Wiltse, Greenville lefty, stumbled twice for 10-7 and .588. Maibauer got 23 on strikes in the 16 innings and took a firmer grip on the whiff lead with 121. George Bielik (6-5), El Dorado comes next with 93, one more than Wiltse. Vicksburg's star, Ed Gilman, turned back 87 with a 5-4 winning record.

Johnson Shuts Out Tribe On Six Hits For White Sox

CHICAGO, July 9 (AP) — Big Comie Johnson struck out 12 and allowed only six hits today as he hurled Chicago to a 6-0 win over the Cleveland Indians.

The 6-foot, 4-inch right hander had an easy time of it after Walt Dropo hit a three - run homer off Early Wynn in the second inning. The Sox made eight hits in all off Wynn, Bob Feller and Bill Wight.

The victory moved the Sox within a game of the second - place Indians.

Johnson was in trouble only in the sixth, when he fanned pinch batter Hal Naragon with the bases loaded, and in the ninth when Naragon and Dale Mitchell singled with two out. He then fanned Gene Woodling.

'Swiftness Of The Posts'

Postal Service Has History Of Progress, Traced In The Bible Back To Year 1520 B. C.

By EZRA ADAMS
(Staff Writer)

If someone told you they would give you $64,000 — and mean it! — for naming a book of the Bible in which "swiftness of the posts" is mentioned as early as a certain year (you're to name it), would you get to claim the money?

Well, the answer is the Book of Job in the Old Testament and the year is 1520 B. C., according to the National Association of Postmasters.

The United States Postal Service, one of the biggest and most intricately complex businesses in the country, is noted for its fast delivery of all our personal postal dispatches. It now makes overnight deliveries by air from, say, Monroe to San Francisco or Chicago or New York. That is much progress from the day of the first Pony Express in 1860, only 95 years ago!

Homer B. Roark, West Monroe's postmaster, relates one instance that occurred in recent months right here in the Twin Cities. He says, "A man made a telephone call to New York about the middle of an afternoon to order a tuxedo. And about 9 o'clock the next morning, we delivered the parcel to him (it was sent special delivery) here in West Monroe."

In sharp contrast, the year 1639 saw the home of Richard Fairbanks turned into the first U. S. "postoffice," acting as a clearing house for mail to and from England. Intercolonial mail service began in 1672 and in 1773 Benjamin Franklin became the first postmaster, in Philadelphia. He was the first to be Postmaster General, appointed 180 years ago, in 1775.

Postal service history of the Twin Cities and their territories can be recited by David C. Carter, who began his career with the Monroe office on December 12, 1912, as an extra clerk during the Christmas rush. He has been around there so long now—approaching 43 years—that, as he says, "so many people call me 'Dave' and I don't even know or recognize them!"

Carter served as superintendent of a branch postoffice at Selman Field during World War Two. At present, and for a number of past years, he has been clerk in charge of money orders.

Some sort of a record, at least locally, must have been made by Assistant Postmaster R. E. Ellington of the Monroe office, who has worked for 30 years without a day off because of sickness. He is now the only employe of the Monroe office who has not had at least one day marked absent on sick leave.

HOMER B. ROARK
West Monroe Postmaster

DAVID C. CARTER—Over 42 years postal service here.

WOODROW HATHORN
Monroe Postmaster

Woodrow Hathorn, Monroe postmaster, tells of how "The West Monroe Postoffice was a branch of the Monroe office from August 1, 1925, until July 1, 1946, when it became independent."

Hathorn came to work with the postoffice here on February 16, 1936 as a temporary clerk. He was on military leave during the Second World War to serve with the navy. His postmastership began on July 1, 1948.

Both local postmasters agree that the department's recent plan for decentralization is already bearing helpful results. They say that heretofore, with centrally located authority and records in Washington, some three or four weeks often were required for an answer to an urgent request by a postmaster, even if such request was airmailed.

"It was not anyone's fault," say these "masters of the mails." "It was simply that one central point could not give fast individual attention to all requests and problems of all the postoffices in the country. The postal service decentralization program will, we believe, prove to be the biggest boost, guaranteeing more efficient operation of the department nationwide, that has happened to it since it was started."

The postmasters here also point to other benefits of the new decentralization system: personal problems can be handled more quickly and in a personal manner by the district offices; records are located in home districts, where they are not subject to annihilation by a single enemy attack; quicker approvals of delivery extensions; district meetings attended by district managers, holding open forum discussions.

All plans are not yet fulfilled. There is to be a regional director in Dallas, who will act as a "little postmaster general."

Under the decentralizing plan, the United States is divided into regions which are subdivided into a number of districts. Monroe and West Monroe are in the Sixth District, with main offices in New Orleans, which is in turn in the Third Region, to be headquartered in Dallas. The Sixth District is comprised of the state of Louisiana, except DeSoto, Red River, Bienville, Webster, Claiborne, Bossier and Caddo parishes, all of which are included in District One, under Dallas jurisdiction.

In District Six, headed by Matthew H. Creed, New Orleans, there are 649 postoffices, largest number in any district of the region.

Such as is now being done toward decentralizing the department was suggested by the Penrose Congressional Committee in 1908, Postmaster Roark said. And he added that in 45 years the business of U. S. postal service has increased by a thousand per cent.

Postmaster Hathorn estimates "conservatively" that the 109 employes under his supervision service 75,000 people east of the Ouachita river and within a radius that averages about 20 miles of Monroe. He figures this number of patrons increases at the rate of about 3,000 annually.

Also estimating at a minimum, Postmaster Roark says the 27 employes he supervises service about 28,000 patrons west of the Ouachita and "south to Okaloosa, west almost to Calhoun and north to Wall's Lake community."

Mentioning the latter, Roark recalled that when D'Arbonne swamp got under water for a time several miles of road were impassable for mail carriers. To get mail for the 20-odd families there, Sam Bledsoe, Negro of the isolated Wall's Lake, would come down the Ouachita and "bargain" with the West Monroe post office to let him deliver the community's mail.

All the department trucks and street letter boxes are soon to be painted red, white and blue, according to reports, including the new-type delivery truck designed especially for use by mail carriers. Each of the Twin Cities offices has one of the new right-hand steering trucks ordered and they will be used for city delivery, the postmasters said. The local postmasters estimate that each city carrier presently walks from 10 to 20 miles each day on his route.

Rural carriers have a major complaint in the placement and the maintenance of mail boxes. They would like to see the boxes placed on firmly planted posts in easily accessible positions along the roadside. Anyone can determine the correct height, which should be level with the door window of a conventional size automobile.

The rural carrier, unlike a city carrier, is actually a "rolling postmaster" to his patrons. He can supply them with anything like stamps, money orders and envelopes, that can be obtained at the post office. About 8,500 patrons are served daily by the rural carriers of the West Monroe office alone, Roark said.

Rural free delivery, begun in 1896 as an operation of the post office department, is 33 years younger than city free delivery, which was started in 1863.

A clothing allowance has been recently authorized for use of post office employees who are required to wear a uniform. In the Twin Cities, that includes 10 carriers in West Monroe and 35 in Monroe.

Hathorn explained that this $100 allowance was for the first year of employment, or for the present fiscal year for those already employed. He said it is likely to decrease somewhat after the first year.

But if one may be allowed an opinion here, it appears an increase in the allowance would be more in keeping if the dog population of the country continues to increase! According to reports gained through a national survey, there are about 22½ million dogs in the United States.

And, according to the local postmasters, this number must be increasing so that dogs are a major complaint with city carriers. They say a great deal of trouble comes to city carriers from dogs of patrons, although the post office usually receives fine cooperation from the owners.

But because of their dogs being vicious, or acting in such an unfriendly manner, many patrons fail to receive their mail from the carrier, at least on the day it should be delivered. In the case of an ill tempered dog advancing toward a carrier, he can and will take the mail back to the post office, where it may be necessary for the patron to pick it up in person.

One segment of mail handling, however, seldom if ever has any difficulty from dogs. Air mail flights, of which there are 11 incoming and 10 outgoing here daily (except Sundays and holidays, when the number is less) from 6:40 a.m. to 10:20 p.m., carry about 10 or 15 per cent of all mail coming and going through the two local postoffices. This "rough estimate" was made by the postmasters, who figure that some 25 or 35 per cent of all outgoing mail addressed here to points far enough to be expidited by airmail, goes by air.

"Surface mail," or the regular three-center, is being flown in some sections of the country, mostly the north, the local postmasters said. It was tried here during the 1954 Christmas rush period, but was discontinued and is not now being used locally.

Another recently activated service of the postal department, beginning on June 7 of this year, is "certified mail." Roark and Hathorn explained its use is intended for mailing documents and other things of intrinsic value, not having a value in dollars and cents.

Primarily, it insures the sender, for 15 cents, that his letter will be delivered, though it goes by regular mail routines.

Patrons wishing to use the certified mail may secure printed forms at the postoffice. The form has a number across one end, which is to be torn off and stuck to the front of the letter, along with 15 cents in stamps. The rest of the form contains a record to be filled in and kept by the patron. The letter then can be dropped into the regular mail or if the patron wants to make "positively certain" that his letter is delivered to the right person, he can purchase at the postoffice window for seven cents a card to be pasted to the back of the envelope. This card is signed by the receiver upon delivery and returned immediately to the sender. But even without this card, the receiver is required to sign for the mail upon delivery and a record is kept at the receiving postoffice.

Postmasters Hathorn and Roark explain that the certified mail can replace much of the registered mail, which has been increased in cost to the patron to a minimum of 40 cents for an indemnity up to $5.

The Monroe and West Monroe postoffices have both shown great progress in facilities, trained personnel and equipment in recent years. The Monroe office has a station at 711 North Fourth, which was opened in September, 1953. The latest additions to the Monroe office are two electrically driven tying machines, used to tie bundles of letters, and other mail, together.

West Monroe postmaster Roark tells of a unique arrangement with one of the city carriers. The carrier's route is such that when he completes it in the afternoon, he is quite a distance from the office. So a bicycle is taken by truck to the carrier's last stop and tied to a drop box. When he finishes his route, the carrier gets astride his bicycle and in "seven or eight minutes" is back at the postoffice after an almost effortless return trip.

Prospective Bidders On Oil Lands Given Warning

WASHINGTON July 9—UP—"Don't try to ride two horses at once."

A Department of Interior official passed this warning along Saturday to prospective bidders on 73,500 acres of submerged oil lands off the Louisiana coast. Both the federal government and Louisiana claim title to the lands and both have advertised them for leasing to oil prospectors at 10 a. m. (cst) next Tuesday in New Orleans.

Who will get hurt? The interior official, who insisted on remaining anonymous, said that any bidder who submits both federal and state offers is going to lose heavily, on one side or the other, when and if The Supreme Court finally decides ownership of the lands.

"My advice," the official told the United Press, "is for bidders to pick one horse and ride it."

The Department of Justice has twice asked the court to decide whether the tracts are within Louisiana's so-called "historic coastal boundary" or are part of the government's outer continental shelf holdings under the Submerged Lands Act passed by Congress in 1953.

The court's ruling is not expected until next fall. Meantime, it is possible both the government and Louisiana will try to outlaw each other's lease sales through injunctive proceedings.

Last year the Louisiana legislature fixed the state's seaward boundary at three leagues—10.5 miles from the coast line—even though the Submerged Lands Act specifically restricts it to three miles.

The disputed lands are part of 675,095 acres off both Louisiana and Texas offered for bidding by the Interior Department. The bulk, 458,095 acres, are off Louisiana.

The Louisiana State Mineral Board and Gov. Robert Kennon have refused to cancel their sale and have demanded the government withdraw. Undersecretary of the Interior Clarence A. Davis countered with similar demands and only last week warned that he will take "appropriate action" if Louisiana goes through with its sale.

Davis declined to say what that action may be, but a spokesman hinted he may ask the Justice Department to request the Supreme Court to issue a restraining order.

Meanwhile, 18 senators headed by Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) have introduced a bill which would, in effect, repeal the submerged lands act and restore to the federal government title to all oil-rich lands beyond the three-mile limit.

Two other senators, Herbert H. Lehman (D-N. Y.), and Lister Hill (D-Ala.) have offered bills to use profits from the tidelands for educational purposes.

Sales so far have brought the government more than $142 million in bonuses, leases and rentals. Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay has said they eventually will bring in at least $6 billion.

MRS. JAMES GROVER HARRISON

Vows Said In Mississippi Of Interest Here

A wedding of exceptional beauty and brilliance, which united members of two prominent Mississippi families, was solemnized in Winona, Miss., on Saturday night, July 2 at 7:30, when Miss Sarah Strong Webster became the bride of James Grover Harrison. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Luke Webster, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Gilbert Potter Bullis of Natchez, and the late Grover Nagel Harrison.

Of widespread social interest, the impressive ceremony was performed in Moore Memorial Methodist Church by the Rev. Roy A. Grisham, pastor of First Methodist Church in Cleveland.

Woodwardia fern formed a background for the altar, and tiers of white tapers burning in wrought iron cathedral candelabra and large arrangements of white stock in floor baskets decorated the altar and choir areas. Chancel and choir rails were overlaid with white and banked with green huckleberry. Reserved pews were marked with large bows of gleaming white satin.

Music was presented by Mrs. N. V. Hutchinson, organist, and Miss Ocie Higgins of Columbus, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in an imported, hand - clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle gown over taffeta. The draped bodice, with low neckline and long sleeves with traditional lily points over the hands, was of lace. The bouffant skirt, worn over hoops, featured panels of lace down the front and back and extended into a chapel train. The veil of Brussels lace was held to her head by a Watteau bonnet and extended the length of her train. The only ornament worn by the bride was a pair of heirloom diamond earrings, which had belonged to her paternal great aunt. Her cascade bouquet was of stephanotis and lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Page Harrison Trewolla of Jackson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor; and her daughter, Miss Linda Page Trewolla was maiden of honor. The six bridesmaids were Miss Edwina Austin and Miss Rebecca Johnson of Winona, Miss Nita Jean Simmons of Tylertown, Miss Janice Paden of Tupelo, Miss Betsy Gully of Senatobia, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Wheeler Parker, Jr., of Natchez.

The bride's attendants wore seafoam green, nylon net floor-length dresses fashioned with graceful, off - the - shoulder, shirred necklines, and featuring skirts of tier after tier of nylon net over rustling taffeta poised over Natchez hoops. They wore matching hairbraid hats with taffeta bow trim, and they carried bouquets of yellow roses.

Ringbearer was David Luke Trewolla of Jackson, nephew of the bride.

Eugene Platte of Natchez served as Mr. Harrison's best man. Groomsmen were George T. Houston of Vicksburg, Joseph Wheeler Parker, Jr., Hayden Kaiser, Richard Feltus and Richard Durkin, all of Natchez, and David S. Sanderson of Jackson, cousin of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Webster chose a floor-length dress of French rose tulle and hand-clipped lace with matching bolero. Her corsage was a white orchid. The mother of the groom wore a champagne floor - length gown of nylon tulle over taffeta trimmed with imported Brussels lace, and a bronze orchid corsage.

A reception was held in the home of the bride.

Following the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to Florida and Nassau. For traveling the bride wore an ensemble consisting of a sheath dress in pure silk shantung in a heavenly blue and white print, and the duster of matching blue was of linen. Her accessories were white, and she wore a white orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will live in Natchez after July 17.

Miss Smith's Wedding Plans Are Announced

Claiming widespread interest today is the announcement of Miss Sally Virginia Smith's engagement to Opliss Larnaris Harper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simmie Lee Harper of Bossier City. Miss Smith is the daughter of Mrs. William Tazewell Smith and the late Mr. Smith of Bastrop.

The wedding will be an event of August 20 at 8 o'clock in the evening at the First Baptist Church in Bastrop. The Rev. Earl C. Whitsitt will officiate.

Miss Smith's attendants will be Miss Kathryn Douciere, maid of honor, Mrs. James B. Todd, matron of honor, Miss Susan Smith, Mrs. J. B. Robinson, Mrs. Robert Van Hook, Mrs. J. B. Davis and Mrs. Rosemary Sargeant, bridesmaids.

Serving Mr. Harper as best man will be Justin Russell. Ushers and groomsmen will be John Madison Smith, Speedy Long, Enos Brady, Allen Crowe and Arvis Harper.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. O. M. Patterson of Bastrop and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith of Oak Ridge. She graduated from Ward Belmont, Nashville, Tenn., and Louisiana Tech where she is a member of Kappa Delta.

The prospective bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Holt of Bossier City and Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Harper of Oak Grove. He is a graduate of Louisiana College where he holds membership in the Athenian Society. They will make their home in Bastrop.

Miss Clark To Be Autumn Bride

Miss Nancy Clark, daughter of Mrs. Carey Eugene Clark and the late Mr. Clark of El Dorado, Ark. is the bride-elect of Eugene Campbell Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Turner of Bastrop.

Pies Are Too Fattening Says German Bride

ALPHA, Ill. — A German war-bride here said she likes American foods but pies are "the toughest to make and so fattening."

Mrs. Arthur Price, 25, said Americans eat too many canned vegetables, compared to Germans who like them fresh. She said American hamburger and hot dogs are good, but thinks the buns should be less soft and sweet.

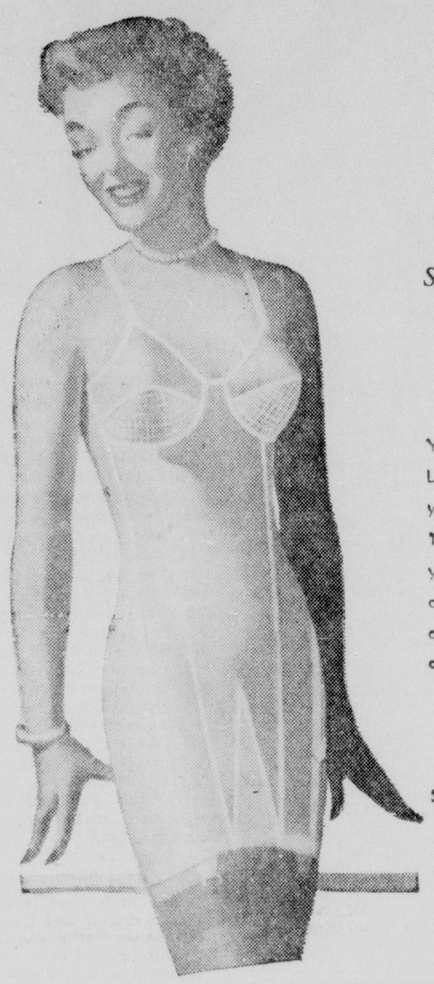

American dress also drew a comment from her. She said "blue jeans don't beautify a woman."

Mrs. Price said American cooking wasn't new when she started housekeeping in America because she learned from an American cookbook her husband's mother sent her while she was still living in Germany.

Pinochle Players Set Some Record

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Twenty-five years of pinochle every Wednesday is the record set by a group of Syracuse women.

When they started, there were 15 players, but death and moving from the city have cut the number to eight. The eight meet at each others' homes for lunch and then play pinochle until early evening.

"Getting together keeps us young," explained one of the women.

MR. AND MRS. KEITH ROBERTSON at the reception that followed their wedding on June 26, which was solemnized in the afternoon at the Air Base in Lake Charles. She was the former Marjorie DuBell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. DuBell of Ferriday.

MR. AND MRS. SAM FALLETTO

Miss LaCara Becomes Bride Of S. Falletto

Miss Elizabeth LaCara became the bride of Sam Falletto in a double ring ceremony performed at 9 o'clock in the morning at St. Matthew's Catholic Church. Msgr. J. C. Marsh performed the nuptials.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam LaCara. Mr. Falletto is the son of Mrs. Josephine Falletto and the late Mr. Tony Falletto.

White gladiolas and white cathedral tapers decorated the altar.

Mrs. Della Williamson was organist and accompanied Miss Lena Sciara who sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

Altar boys were Anthony Canizaro and Carmel Miller.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a waltz-length gown of chantilly lace, combined with nylon tulle over bridal satin, trimmed in sequins and pearls.

Her shoulder length veil of French illusion was held in place by a tiara of matching lace encrusted in seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white orchids, pearl studded stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Miss Mary Messina was maid of honor. Her gown featured a long torso and bouffant ballerina skirt of pink crystalette. She wore a velvet half-hat of matching pink and carried a blue lace fan studded with rhinestones entwined with pink carnations, blue tulle and blue pearl streamers.

Mrs. Rose Parsons, matron of honor and Miss Mary Louise Danna, bridesmaid, were dressed identical to the honor attendant. Dianne Warlick was flower girl.

Mr. Jimmy La Pietra served as best man. Mr. Angelo Danna was groomsman. Ushers were Charles Cascio and Louis Costanza.

The ringbearer was Steve Pitarro.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. LaCara chose a navy blue chantilly lace dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Falletto, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a navy crepe model with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was also an orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Virginia Hotel ballroom which was decorated with baskets of pink gladiolas and candelabra holding pink tapers.

Pink carnations and flocked emerald leaves decorated the bride's table which was centered with the tiered wedding cake.

Miss Loreitha La Dart was hostess at the bride's book.

For a wedding trip to California, the bride changed to a navy blue suit with white accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

KEEPING 'EM NEAT

If youngsters throw towels on the floor when they've finished washing, try clipping their towels with snap clothespins that have been tied to the towel rack. Then towels will be easy for small fry to reach, and they won't be dropped. Use a different color clothespin to identify each child's towel.

Be Careful What You Name Baby

HOLMFIRTH, England — The vicar of Holmfirth, the Rev. A. T. Dangerfield, refused to christen a baby because the parents insisted on calling her Iris.

"If her name was not properly pronounced, it would sound like Irish Stew," he reports in his parish magazine.

Warning parents to be careful of the names they select for their babies, Dangerfield — his own Christian names are Arthur Thomas — says "A name like Marmanduke can embarrass a boy in later life. So can a set of initials which make up a word like D-O-G."

MAGNIFYING TWEEZER

A new tweezer has a magnifying glass attached so you can really see what you are doing. The lens is also removable so the instrument can be used as a regular tweezer.

MR. AND MRS. LOUIE GENE SANFORD

Sanford-Nale Vows Said In Truxno Chapel

The Bird's Chapel Methodist Church of Truxno, was the scene, Friday afternoon, June 10, 1955 of the double ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Louie Gay Nale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Nale of Truxno, and Louie Gene Sanford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dee L. Sanford of Arcadia.

The Reverend Frank M. Stage officiated at the impressive ceremony before an altar outlined with southern smilax. Cathedral tapers in seven branched candelabra cast a soft glow over tall baskets of white shasta daisies and white stock. White satin bows marked the pews at the center aisle.

Miss Peggy Johnson, pianist, presented a program of wedding music. She also accompanied Miss Robbie Johnson, her sister, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Guests were ushered to their seats by Fenner Nale, brother of the bride and Rudy Papan, brother-in-law of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose for the wedding an orchid dacron dress with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of white carnations. The mother of the groom was wearing a light gray silk print with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Beth Nale Papan, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Her dress was of pale blue Swiss organdy over blue taffeta and she carried a bouquet of white split carnations.

Little Miss Dianne Nale, cousin of the bride, dressed in white imported frosty flocked organdy of ballerina length, scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her ballerina length gown was of white imported frosty flocked organdy over white taffeta. Her finger tip veil of nylon tulle was flowing from a headdress of tiny white daisies. She carried a bouquet of white split carnations on a white Bible.

Dewey Singleton of Arcadia, cousin of the groom, served as best man.

A reception following the wedding was held in the home of the bride's parents. A white cut-work cloth overlaid the bride's table which was centered with an arrangement of white shasta daisies and held the three tiered wedding confection and punch service.

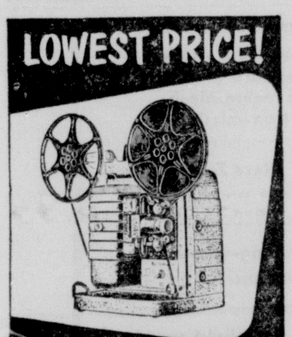

Bouquets of white shasta daisies and roses were placed at vantage points through out the reception suite.

For a wedding trip to points in Arkansas, the bride chose an aqua blue linen suit with matching accessories and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Important HDC Council Meeting

Council Meeting July 16th

Ouachita Parish Home Demonstration Council will meet Saturday, July 16th at 10:00 a. m. All clubs voted to bring $5 to this council meeting in order that Ouachita's women will have transportation to the state farm and home short course August 8-12. Please let's all be present and each club do its part in this cooperative project. Farm and Home Week offers farmers and homemakers an opportunity to combine business with pleasure in a four-day stay on the campus of their largest institution of higher education. It's an opportunity to brush up on the latest developments and pick up many money - saving and work-saving hints. This university serves all the people of the state — not just its students on the campus Let us take advantage of this offer to improve ourselves by attending school at LSU Farm and Home Week, August 8-12.

Summer Work in the Garden

Although vacation time comes to most of us in the summer, we should not overlook the many things to be done in the garden. Here are some of these jobs listed by LSU extension service specialist: Dig and replant Easter lily bulbs. The commercial growers will harvest and grade bulbs this month. See that your plants are mulched with a three to four inch layer of sawdust, leaves, pine needles or bagasse. Remove and burn dead foliage of iris and fertilize by working a little bone meal around the plants. If you cut back dahlias to about half their growth after the first crop of blooms, they will produce a fine crop of fall blooms. Get vegetable garden ready to plant summer and fall vegetables. This period is the toughest for gardening. Do not turn under heavy foliage as it will heat the row. Scrape off instead. Apply fertilizer, using four to six pounds of 8-8-8 per 100 foot row, about ten days before planting seed to allow beds to settle and firm. Keep plenty of moisture for young plants. A rule of thumb for covering seed in planting is to cover with soil to about the thickness of the seed. Example: Mustard ⅛ inch, beans ¼ inch to ½ inch.

Here are the vegetables to plant:

July — rutabagas, cauliflower, and broccoli.

August—mustard, cabbage, swiss chard, brussel sprouts, bush and pole snap beans, squash, turnips, beets, shallots, cucumbers, and Irish potatoes.

September — endive, escarole, parsley, dill, onions (Bermuda, creole) and radishes.

If you have Young or Boysenberries remove old canes and fertilize each plant using 1½ pints of 8-8-8 per plant. Apply by making a circle around the plant about 12 inches from the stem. Work it into the soil. Mulch each plant with sawdust, leaves or straw to keep down weeds, conserve moisture and to keep soil cooler.

State Poultry School at Alexandria

A state poultry school will be held July 10, 11, and 12th, at Alexandria, La. A number of out-of-state authorities in poultry production will participate in the program. This will also be the annual convention of the Louisiana Poultry Growers' Association meeting. The banquet will be staged in the Venetian Room of Hotel Bentley on Monday night, July 11th at 8:00 p. m. This combined event will offer such a fine opportunity for producers to get the newest and best information about poultry production. Mr. Clyde Ingram, LSU poultry specialist, urges all poultrymen to attend.

National Safety Week

The president of United States proclaims July 24 - 30 National Farm Safety Week. His proclamation states 14,000 farm workers were killed and more than one million farm residents were injured last year. Farm worker death rates third highest in all types of industry in U. S. Every farm worker can aid in reducing this death toll by constantly bearing in mind "Your safety is in your hands."

MR. AND MRS. ALLEN PRESTON TRISLER

Start Couple Pledge Vows In Home Ceremony

START — A lovely wedding of the season was that of Miss Constance Aline Copeland and A-2c Allen Preston Trisler on Wednesday evening, June 22, at 7:30 o'clock.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Everett Copeland of Start. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah R. Trisler also of Start.

The Rev. James M. Poole, pastor of Crew Lake Methodist Church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The couple exchanged their nuptial vows at the home of the bride's parents before a background of greenery and tall baskets of summer flowers.

The bride chose for her wedding an aqua cotton model with a low v-neck faced with white and embroidered in rhinestones. The long fitted waist ended at the bouffant skirt with a large bow in the back. Her accessories were of white and her corsage a purple - throated white orchid.

The bride's mother wore a navy and white printed silk model with white accessories and a corsage of rose carnations.

Mrs. Trisler, the bridegroom's mother, was attired in a navy lace complemented with a corsage of rose carnations.

A reception followed the ceremony. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth. Mrs. W. F. Finley, Jr., served the four-tiered wedding cake embossed in pink rosebuds and topped with wedding figurines.

Miss Faye Margie Trisler, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the punch service.

Among the out - of - town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. J. E. Fife, Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Fife, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McGowen, Mrs. Victor Moore and daughter, all of Monroe; Mrs. S. W. Copeland, Judy Sanford, Mrs. W. L. Yancey, Eddie Yancey, all of Rayville.

The bride is a graduate of Start High School.

The bridegroom also graduated from Start High School and attended Northeast State College, prior to entering the air force.

Girl Scout News

For more than a hundred girls tomorrow will mean the beginning of nine days of fun and adventure in the out of doors at Pine Wood, the camp that belongs to all of the Scouts of our community. We venture to predict that none will be late at the bus stops which will be as follows: Crosley School, North Third Street entrance—7:55 Dairy Queen, Fourth and Louisville, 8:05; Eighteenth and Louisville a few minutes later: State Police Headquarters on Sterlington Road about 8:20. One bus will stop at the Girl Scout Office at 8:00 and at South Second and Plum at 8:10 to pick up girls in the Barkdull-Faulk and Plum Street School districts.

Each girl will bring her lunch, a drinking cup, a pocket knife if she is an Intermediate Scout, and a beach towel, old blanket, or something similar to rest on. Riding the bus is usually one of the highlights of the day's camp, with chatter and singing to enliven the trip.

After the opening flag ceremony Monday morning the girls will divide into units of about 20 of approximately the same age. With their counselors they will make a unit home in a shady spot on the grounds. Under the branches of the big tree which the girls call the "century Oak" will be the home of one unit, we imagine. "Hickory Hill," as another spot is named, will probably be chosen, too. The youngest Brownies will be under the tall pines close to the building, while older Brownies will move farther away.

Setting up a unit home is part of the fun, so leaders do not take away from the fun by doing this ahead of time for the girls. The girls will put their water cooler in a shady place, will choose a "cup tree" on which to hang their drinking cups, will hang their lunches on a clothesline, will put up handwashing facilities in their unit. Maybe they will find logs they can roll into a circle to sit on. Anyway, the Scouts will be very busy in their units, getting acquainted with their leaders and with one another.

Some of the leaders who have taken training and plan to help are: Mrs. D. W. Ford, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. L. C. Noland, Jr., Mrs. Leon Carpenter, Mrs. N. L. Huckabee, Mrs. A. W. Wiley, Mrs. I. L. Causey, Mrs. B. B. Gates, Mrs. Edmond Middleton, Mrs. E. J. Norman and Mrs. C. C. Bedenbaugh. There will be others, but we don't have all the names.

Some of the older girls who will serve as program aides are Carolyn Freund, Betty Hemphill, Nancy Martin, Ann McCarty, Dee Barksdale, Beverly Rushing, Marie Nelson, Donna Hildabridle, Mary Pearl Coats, Yvonne Huckabee, Mardell Reinhardt, Ingrid Peterson and Janice Joyce. How the campers do love the program aides! Being a program aide is fun and good training for these girls, too. There's nothing like growing our own future camp counselors. More news about day camp another time.

Let fried chicken go Italian! Add oregano and garlic salt to the flour in which you dip the poultry pieces.

Miss McClendon Becomes Bride In Church Rites

The First Methodist Church was the setting for the impressive nuptials when Miss Martha Carolyn McClendon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McClendon, of Lake Providence became the bride of James Curtis Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scott of Monticello. Reverend T. M. Lancaster performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of a large group of relatives and friends. The church sanctuary was decorated with ivy-entwined white trellises against a background of tall candelabra also ivy-entwined and centered with large satin bows. Tall baskets of white stock and large white mums were on either side of the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a blush pink slipper satin ballerina length gown, made with fitted basque bodice with deep yoke of silk lace adorned with satin appliqued leaves; the fitted sleeves were wrist length, and the full gathered skirt had deep inserts of silk lace with appliques of satin. Her finger tip veil of illusion was attached to a white Juliet cap which was embroidered in seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid, and with streamers of white satin and stephanotis.

Mrs. W. E. Patrick, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore an embroidered nylon organdy linen with yellow satin and made with long torso lines and a scoop neckline. The scalloped headband and half-mitts were of matching material, and white daisies, yellow-centered, made the bouquet and decorated each scallop of the headdress.

Mrs. Thomas Inman Powell of Epps, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Hardy Hardwick of Baton Rouge, the bride's cousin, were the bridesmaids. Their dresses, made identical with that of the matron of honor, were pink and aqua respectively.

Orvis Scott served his brother as best man, and the groomsmen were John Dennis McClendon and Thomas I. Powell.

Mrs. Herman Schwartz was organist and accompanied Miss Tommye Sue Proctor who sang.

Mrs. McClendon chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua raw silk shantung, made with large square collar and pearl and rhinestone trimmed. Her accessories were aqua and white and her corsage was of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Scott, the groom's mother, wore navy sheer with white accessories and her corsage was of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church, where tall baskets of white flowers were placed at vantage points. The refreshment table, covered with a maderia cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white wedding bells, white tulle, altar-effect, with miniature bride and groom, and encircled with small white mums. Mrs. J. B. Hanks of Monroe and Miss Kathleen Evans assisted in serving the white, tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses. Mrs. J. K. McClendon presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Paul Craig of Oak Grove hd charge of the bride's book.

SPEAKING OF DECORATING

. . . by Bundrick's of Shreveport

THE MELLOW CHARM OF PINE

One of the reasons for the present popularity of pine is its adaptability. It's warm . . . it's livable . . . it blends well with other styles, and is at home with almost any decor.

Pine furniture has long been the favorite choice of lovers of Americana. Many of the most treasured heirlooms and collectors' items in our land today were fashioned by our forefathers from native pine.

Much of the air of homey cheerfulness and inviting hospitality in the living room sketched above is due to the golden-toned pine furniture and its complementary background. The beautifully finished wood and smart upholstery fabrics show up importantly against the soft green of the painted wood walls. Small-print provincial wallpaper has been used on one wall to introduce variety and a feeling of movement. Note how the old fashioned clock and trivits on the fireplace wall add to the charm of the provincial setting.

Here is a cozy room with the nostalgic charm of yesterday that is perfectly suited to the informal mood of today's casual living . . . a room that is as practical as it is pretty — a pleasure to live in.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

To call your husband at work with household problems or things for him to do, is not the way to help him in his career.

Wife Cuts Own Throat With Dreary Hectic Attitude

We wouldn't believe it except that we know it is true—how often folks nibble at the egos of those they are close to, how hectic they make their most important relationships because of sensitiveness, hidden or open resentments or lack of understanding.

Marriage is an extremely important relationship for most women, yet many of them seem to have a fatal attraction for doing just the opposite of what they should to make a happy marriage, and with the best intentions!

Nothing hits home so hard or so deeply undermines the foundation of individual ego as the feeling that one is not attractive, desirable or successful in the eyes of one's wife or husband.

So, many wives go along keeping a near perfect house, with three nutritious and attractive meals a day for 365 days a year. They fulfill their responsibilities as a mother with intelligence but cut their own throats as well as their husband's with a dreary, hectic, critical attitude.

Looks Wife Over

For many years now big business has realized that it is wise to bet on a man whose wife builds him up rather than tears him down. When it comes to top notch and executive positions some companies look the wife over very carefully before promoting the husband.

They do this because they know that she will have to be able to carry her weight in company relationships at top level, and also because they know that no man can give his best to his job when he has a wife who depresses him rather than encourages him, who is demanding, who adds emotional turmoil to his life.

While many women do not realize just how important a role they can play in their husband's attainment of success, more and more, companies are becoming convinced that moral support from the wife for the man of the house is one of the key factors in the degree of success he is likely to achieve.

Research has shown that the salesman whose wife grouses "Why do you have to go on the road again, why can't Smith go?" the engineer whose wife mocks his "in a rut" status, or the advertising executive whose spouse nags about after-hour conferences, are not likely candidates for success.

They are being pulled in too many directions. So is the man whose wife loads him with domestic chores or keeps him hopping from one social engagement to another, or calls him during working time to report on hourly household vexations.

Tomorrow: "How A Wife Can Help Her Husband."

Four Jonesboro Business Houses Report Break-Ins

JONESBORO, July 9 (Special)—Jackson parish Sheriff Lloyd Bryant reported today that four business establishments here had been broken into sometime Friday night.

Sheriff Bryant said that the break - ins were discovered early today when the business houses opened for business.

The four establishments were Cashey Service Station, Western Auto Store, Shankle Feed Store and Blake and Heflin Grocery Store.

At the service station $15 and a .22 pistol were reported missing, according to Sheriff Bryant, and the auto store reported knives and 22 shells as missing.

The safe at the feed store was broken into, but only $1 was reported missing. Owners of the grocery store reported nothing missing.

Sheriff Bryant, his deputies, and Jonesboro police chief, Adrian Pevey, are investigating the break-ins.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

THE ANTARCTIC—6

Antarctic Birds

Birds visit the Antarctic, around the South Pole, only during the chilly polar summer—which lasts from about September to March.

The friendly looking penguins are the best known of the Antarctic birds. They walk solemnly about in single file on the ice floes, and swim with grace in the water. They live in families, and hatch their eggs while keeping them warm between their feet.

Another type of bird which visits the Antarctic is the skua gull. It is the great enemy of the penguins, and steals the penguin eggs for food. The penguins are stronger than the skua gulls, and can fight them on the ice. But the penguins cannot fly, and the skua gulls are safe if they can fly away with the eggs they steal.

Today's picture shows a skua gull stealing a penguin egg before the penguins can reach the thief to fight him off. You can cut out the whole picture, color it and save it for your Antarctic collection, or you can make a cutout of the skua gull. To do this, cut out around the edges of the bird's wings and body, cut around the tabs, and fold back. It will stand up on your table.

Jena Teacher To Leave For France

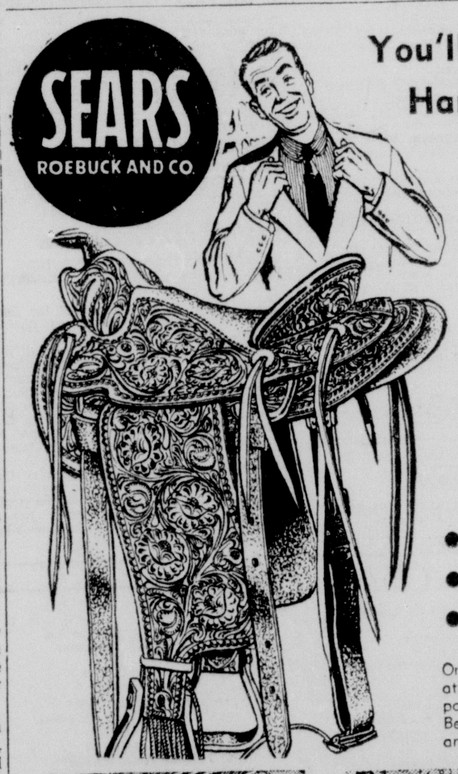

JENA, July 9 (Special) — Miss Elaine Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Taylor, will be leaving the U. S. on or about Aug. 15 for Phalsbourg, France, where she will be employed for the ensuing year as an elementary school teacher for children of American personnel in France.

Horseradish sauce is wonderful with assorted cold meats for a hot-weather buffet. To make the sauce, whip a half cup of heavy cream and fold in a quarter teaspoon salt, a teaspoon of prepared mustard, a tablespoon of lemon juice and about three tablespoons grated bottled horseradish.

QUESTION: Will you please explain Acts 15:20 "And from things strangled and from blood?" Do we gather from this that it is wrong to eat blood?

ANSWER: In every dispensation that God ever made He forbade people to eat blood. He first forbade it in the patriarchial age. Genesis 9:4 "But flesh with the life thereof, which is the blood thereof, shall ye not eat." He also forbade the eating of blood in the Jewish and Christian dispensations. There never was a time when man could eat blood without sinning against God. Nothing strangled with the blood in it is allowed to be eaten; neither is blood to be eaten in any other way. Some people esteem blood pudding as a very great luxury; but no man can eat it, or anything else made of blood, without violating a positive command of God.

We extend a cordial invitation to each of you to attend our Gospel Meeting this week at 401 Slack Street Church of Christ. Services each evening at 7:30 p.m. with Guthrie Dean of Malvern, Ark. doing the preaching.

If you have Bible questions you would like answered in this column, please send them to 210 Vernon Street, West Monroe.—Adv.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: My husband, not being a Christian, resents my conducting family prayers and refuses to take part in them. Should I continue to have devotions with my children even though my companion will not take part! R. P.

ANSWER: My answer to your question is an unqualified "yes."

I strongly believe that if you are faithful in your witness for Christ in the home and continue having devotions with your family that your faithfulness will have a lasting influence on your husband and children.

But remember this: as spiritual leader in your house, your family will be watching your acts as well as listening to your words. I cannot conceive of your husband being able to long resist becoming a Christian if your conduct is thoroughly Christian.

Many well - meaning, devout mothers, in their anxiety to see their home united in the Christian faith, sometimes become almost demandng and often cantankerous in their zeal. A nagging wife will never win an unbelieving husbad to Christ.

Yours is not an easy place to fill. The Bible teaches that the husband is to be spiritual leader of the home. So, you are forced to do double duty because your husband is remiss, spiritually. May God's Spirit guide you, may Divine wisdom be given you, and may heavenly patence be yours, until your family is completely united in the bond of Christian fellowship.

Lutheran Pastor To Attend Church Meeting In Minn.

Rev. Arthur Betz, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, will leave Monday to attend a meeting of church officials at Concordia College, St. Paul, Minn.

Some 400 official visitors and the college of presidents of the Lutheran Church will attend the meeting which will stress an intensive program which looks at "The Church of The Future." Dr. John Behnken, president of the Lutheran body, will preside at the sessions which will officially open Wednesday.

Rev. Betz serves as official visitor of Circuit C of the southern district of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

In the Missouri Synod are approximately 5,500 pastors and missionaries in many parts of the world.

$53,000 School Bond Issue To Be Voted On Aug. 15

JONESVILLE, July 9 (Special)—The Catahoula parish school board announced today that a special election to vote on a $53,000 bond issue for school district No. 12 in the parish will be held August 15.

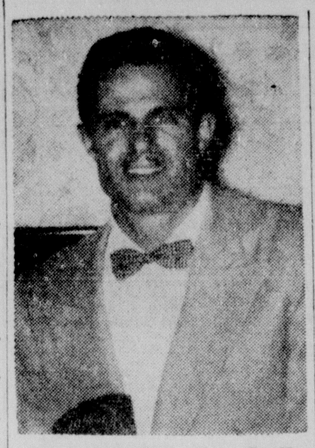

The special election, which was called earlier in the year by the school board, had to be postponed because of a legal technicality.

Funds derived from the bond issue, if approved by the property holders of the school district comprising ward three and small parts of other wards, will be used to expand present school facilities at Enterprise.

In a session a short time ago, the school board voted to purchase additional land adjoining the Enterprise school.

The funds from the $53,000 bond issue will reportedly be used to build a canning center at the Enterprise school, an agriculture department and home economics department and shop.

Dip raw vegetables — sliced carrots, cauliflowerets, snap beans and parsley sprigs — in a fritter batter and then fry in deep fat. Wonderful with meat or fish!

EVANGELIST—Rev. L. E. Hunter, above, of Minden, is conducting a revival at the Pleasant Valley Assembly of God Church. Services start here tonight at 7:45.

THE HOME SHIFT—

Rains Freshen Flowers, Lawns

We are really getting timely showers. There is nothing like natures good old rain for making St. Augustine grow. In my garden the St. Augustine runners are taking over after five years effort and hose watering.

Around the Garden

When the soil is wet that is a good time to pull obnoxious weeds. Run the hand spade down around and under the root and out they come without disturbing the plant. This is also a good time for sprigging St. Augustine or Centipede. If you have never seen a carpet of Zoysia Matrello, go by the Tom Davis residence, 106 Glenmar. Their front lawn is almost completely covered, after about five years. This is our slowest lawn grass to take over, but is really a beautiful velvety cover. It needs mowing only a few times during the year.

Summer Bulbs

Some of the summer blooming bulbs are already in flower. For summer blooming bulbs, late fall is about the best time for planting or transplanting. One well known July blooming bulb is the white spider lily. Montbretia that belongs to the iris family, with its orange red blooms is another. A mass effect of this bulb is quite impressive. The pink rain lily can be induced to bloom any time from May on through the summer by watering. The bloom is one of our most luscious shades of pink. A ground cover of these is a sight of beauty.

The Japanese Iris bloomed in May and June. (Iris Kaempferi). This iris is not a bulb and it needs plenty of moisture. The flowers are large and showy and differ from most other irises in that the blossoms are flat.

The Crinums bloom in June, July and August. The old garden milk and wine lily is one of the crinums. The plants are generally large but they are fool proof and well worth while.

Canna is another plant that grows from a rhizome and you are all familiar with this. Gladiolus is also commonly known. Tiger lily blooms in June and July. The flowers are orange with black markings. So you see it is possible to have blooming bulbs, not only in the spring, but all summer and into the fall.

Clothes News

We women almost always end up wearing our old clothes, but we like to know the latest fashions. Well — here is the fashion designers preview of their fall styles. In general the new lines are slimmer and the clothes are notable for a lack of decoration. The trimming no longer glitters, but boots the more expensive touch of fur. Daytime dresses are apt to be a simple sheath.

There is a new skirt length for evening—just to the ankle or slightly above. Many of the coats are shorter than the hem line. Some coats come just above the knee.

Brown is the big color predicted for fall, with its infinite variations. Hats, gloves, shoes and hose will be produced to harmonize for a complete costume. The browns to be shown make a woman look sophisticated — not at all like a little brown wren. Some of the complimentary colors are frosted mocha and toasted almond.

For the girl leaving for college, separates are still the big thing, combining skirts of all sorts and colors with pull-over or cardigan sweaters. The young college girl will wear blouses made of wool jersey, cotton, silk or rayon—tailored and casual for classroom wear. Dressy separates are good for dates and other more formal occasions. Since tastes vary from college to college, don't try to plan a complete fall and winter wardrobe. Reserve part of your budget to add an item from time to time.

'Tis True

Yes — one female fly can lay nearly 3,000 eggs per month. That's an impressive display of motherhood, to be sure, and a menace as well. First line of defense against this pest is sanitation around garbage cans. Is your can covered 24 hours a day?

Food Notes

In answer to so many calls on the kind of lime to use for crisping pickles — you can use the lime you get at feed and seed stores. Also in answer to so many calls about blanching vegetables before putting them in the home freezer—we blanch all vegetables except those usually eaten raw, except bell peppers. The main precaution when blanching is to cool the food thoroughly. This takes ice water. Bite into the vegetable to see if it is cold all the way through. If you don't chill corn on the cob all the way through the cob, a musty taste will develop that makes the vegetable completely unpalatable. When vegetables are not blanched, the action of the enzymes continues during storage in the freezer. This causes changes in color, flavor, texture and loss of some Vitamin C.

Dentists recommend that desserts for small children be simple and not too sweet. Children enjoy a dish of cooked prunes, which are inexpensive and plentiful right now. The children also like a handful of raisins.

Daylily And Iris Society Displays At Center

An all blue ribbon flower show was presented at the Center this week by members of the Dixieland Daylily and Iris Society. Mrs. J. D. Murry and Mrs. Malcolm Hood of Ruston served as judges. Mrs. K. R. Young was awarded first place in the arrangement section. Mrs. Young created a vertical design in shades of green and yellow - green. An original hand moulded container of soft brown lined with pale green was used. For height the foliage of native iris was used followed by the paler green proliferations (side shoots) of daylily, the delightful china fir and a chartreuse hydrangea bloom in the focal area. The color harmony subtle and most excellent. Mrs. Suzee Gorman was awarded second place. Mrs. Gorman designed a most distinctive line-mass arrangement. For a background a yellow sea-fan with a graceful triangular form. Daylily buds delineated the design with five blooms of the Seashell daylily in the foreground. Variegated honeysuckle accented the lines of the sea-fan. The arrangement was set on two rectangular bases against a chartreuse background. The color harmony was breathtaking. Mrs. T. S. Mangham was awarded third place. Using a round pottery bowl of oatmeal gray Mrs. Mangham designed a line-mass arrangement in shades of violet and red violet. The primary placements were of variegated aspidistra with the flowers of the liriope accenting the line. Mignon dahlias in a deeper violet repeated the design. Variegated hydrangea was placed low in the arrangement and repeated the green and white of the aspidistra. Good design and delightful to behold. The Mignon dahlias used in the arrangement were imported from Holland. They are a deep purple or violet shade, rounded single flowers with a yellow center. Dwarf growing, ideal for bedding and cutting. Height to two feet. In the horticulture section blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. T. S. Mangham for purple dahlia. Mrs. Suzee Gorman for Marigold "Glitter" (the All-American Bronze medal winner) and for variegated houseleek (sempervivum).

One of the most delightful visits I've made this year was to the J. W. Swift garden on Bayou DeSiard. Joe and Mildred built a patio down next to the water as you can see in the picture. The patio follows the slope of the bayou and has a three foot brick retaining wall covered with ivy. Steps lead down to the boat. Joe and Mildred (our city home demonstration agent) designed and constructed their own barbecue pit. Large leaf foliage plants help define the area. Notice the beautiful shadows of the water cypress trees, covered with Spanish moss. These gardeners have captured the scene and made the most of it. Just to see this lovely spot gives you a feeling of peace and contentment. Oriental gardeners would label this area "a garden of quiet repose" or their traditional "space for meditation."

We have been given permission by Mrs. Beatrice Willis Weaver to reprint her garden poem which appeared in the World's Fair Anthology of Verse in 1939:

My Garden Of Beauty

There is sunlight on the garden,
Gay birds are in the trees.
Sweet daisies lift their pretty heads
In the early morning breeze.
There's a walk through the garden
With bright tulips on either side
It leads the way to the old well
That was my father's pride.
There is a blue bird's nest in old rose vine,
The speckled eggs I counted three.
Sweet jasmines trail and climb
To reach the top of the tallest tree.
I like to stroll in this lovely garden
In the evening when day is old,
While roses dressed in pearls of dew
Their lovely hearts unfold.
The rain, the sun and the dew
Keep this garden bright and new
At night little fairies dance there
And moonbeams chase them everywhere.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Plants That Grow Best In Shade

There are many plants which will grow in woodland or in shade for a part of the day. Some kinds will even grow in rather deep shade. In making a shady garden, you can remember that most of the broadleaf evergreens will tolerate a good deal of shade and give you a good background and green specimen shrubs after the leaves have fallen in winter. Our native American hemlocks will grow in shade, too, if they can have a cool root run and are not subject to droughts. If you know that your soil is very dry and that you will not be able to water hemlocks at least for the first few years while they are getting established, by all means do not plant them. Native hollies and the southern magnolia can take more drought than a hemlock.

Many spring and fall flowering bulbs will do all right in the shade if they do not have to compete too closely with the roots of trees. Daffodils chionodoxas, grape hyacinths, many kinds of scillas, pushkinia, the fall blooming red spiderlilies, sternbergias, miniature amaryllis and others will all do well in part shade if you prepare the soil well and do not let the trees out-run them for food. You will have to feed all these bulbs with about twice yearly applications of bone meal and a complete fertilizer scattered over the mulch that they should have over them at all times.

There is a long, long list of shade loving plants besides the broadleaf evergreens and the bulbs. The very best ones are wild flowers right here in the south. Some of these are well known and some others do not seem to be known. It takes a soil with leaf mold dug into it about twelve inches deep to grow these natives. A list of wild shade lovers or shade tolerant na-repens), Shortia, Blue Phlox, Solomons - seal (Poligonatum), False Solomons - seal (Smilacina), Meadow - Rues of many kinds, Wild Indigo (Baptisia) Thermopsis, Rattlesnake Plantain (Epipactis), Wild Saxifrage, Shooting Star (Dodecatheon), Yellow - Root (Zanthorhiza), Spring Beauty (Claytonia,) Bellwort (Uvularia,) Strawberry - Bush (Euonymus americanus) and Trilliums of many kinds.

In preparing the above list, your columnist has tried to use the name which seems best known to gardeners. Sometimes, we are very sophisticated and know the scientific name instead of the common one. There are many non-evergreen trees and shrubs that will tolerate at least some shade. Our wild azaleas will if they can get some hot sun for part of the day. The Huckberries, Will Hydrangea, different kinds of deciduous or non-evergreen hollies, Haws and even Mockoranges.

Opening lead: Two of hearts.

Today we are asked to sit as a jury. The dispute is between North and South, and the indictment contains several charges.

After a pass by South, West elected to gamble it out with a bid of four spades, which was passed all around. The two of hearts was opened and South won with the king. He then shifted to the nine of clubs. Declarer played low and North won with the queen, cashed the ace on which South dropped the eight and North continued with the third club. Since South could not ruff. West won the trick, drew trumps and discarded his losing diamond on Dummy's jack of clubs. You can see that this performance would give rise to some discussion, particularly when it can be seen that North and South could easily have made five hearts.

North claims South should have opened the bidding. South contends that North should have doubled the four spade bid, whereupon South would have overridden the double with a call of five hearts. South charges that North should have cashed the setting trick with the ace of diamonds. North argues that South should not have led high - low in clubs as if he wanted to ruff the third round. It's all very involved. What is your decision?

I have no objection to an occasional opening bid with the South hand. It has great playing power if partner happens to have a preference and in order to find out if one exists an early start must be made; otherwise the bidding might readily get out of hand before both suits can be shown. If South does elect to open, a heart bid should be preferred. A subsequent bid of five diamonds, if found desirable, will not be surrounded with nearly as much danger in that sequence.

North might hazard a double of four spades, but I do not believe his pass is subject to the slightest criticism.

North should, however, have saved the day by cashing the ace of diamonds. The four spade bid surely was based on a six card suit and South would, therefore, have no trumps. That is a moral certainty, whereas the fear that West had no diamonds was rather far fetched.

YMCA To Conduct Overnight Camp

Robert E. Hanna, Jr., chairman of the Twin Cities YMCA day camp, announced today that the day camp will conduct an overnight camp for all campers on Tuesday, at Cheminahaut state park, seven miles north of Bastrop.

Campers will leave Forsythe park at 3:00 p. m. on Tuesday and return about 10:00 a. m. on Wednesday. Camp will last only until 11:30 a. m. on Wednesday.

Parents who provide their son's transportation should pick them up at 11:30 a. m. on that day and the buses will also begin their return trip at 11:30 a. m. on the 13th.

The regular camping schedule will be resumed on Thursday, July 14th.

On July 15th at 2:00 p. m. in Forsythe park there will be a parents' day program that all parents and friends are invited to attend. At this time swimming awards and other marks of credit will be presented. The best all round camping group and most outstanding camper will be recognized.

One hundred forty - two campers are registered for the period now in progress. Activities include swimming, boating, fishing, hiking, camping out, horse back riding, riflery, archery, crafts, athletics, group games, nature lore, singing, devotionals and fellowship with other boys, all conducted under well trained Christian leadership.

The present period of camp is completely filled. However, limited space is still available for the third period beginning, July 18th. For reservations call Twin Cities YMCA, 5-2353.

Judge Orders Sheriff To Seize Disputed Child

DEDHAM, Mass. July 9 (AP) — Judge James F. Reynolds of Norfolk Probate Court today ordered sheriffs to bring before him — forthwith — 4-year old Hildy McCoy, central figure in a two-year adoption controversy.

The child, born of a Roman Catholic mother, has been with a Jewish couple, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ellis, since she was 10 days old. An adoption petition was nullified in the same court two years ago but the Ellises have refused to surrender the child.

The order was issued as a result of a petition brought by John F. McAuliffe, counsel for Marjorie McCoy Doherty, Hildy's mother.

The Ellises and the child were out of town last week when Judge Reynolds ordered them to surrender her. Counsel for the couple gained a delay in the State Supreme Court by asking for a review of the Probate Court action.

Yesterday McAuliffe sought to have the Ellises adjudged in contempt for disobeying the order to surrender the child. A hearing was ordered July 18.

Massachusetts law says that where practicable children given for adoption should be placed with families of the same religious faith.

3,000 Attempt To Attend Trial

SEOUL, July 9 (AP)—Some 3,000 Koreans smashed windows and fought police for an hour today, trying to jam into the trial of a suave young Korean who brags he seduced 70 women in 12 months.

Would-be spectators fought with 15 mounted policemen and 100 officers armed with riot clubs. But nobody got to hear the trial.

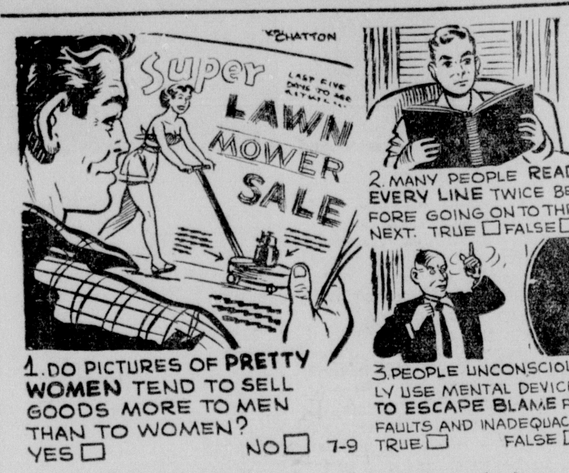

The trial was postponed indefinitely because of the near-riot and the judge ordered the next session closed to the public.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

1. No. Both research and experience show that each sex is more attracted to pictures of its own members — directly contrary to popular opinion. A man glances at a picture of a pretty girl and quickly forgets her. But a picture of a handsome man tips him off to some product for men. He instantly identifies himself with the good-looking fellow. Each sex identifies itself with the person shown —the women, with the pretty women: the man with the handsome man.

Answer To Question No. 2

2. True. Your eyes cannot see anyting except when they are still long enough for a photograph to register on the retina. Your eyes rest a fraction of a second on each word, then they jump to the next. Fast readers see several words at once. Slow readers jump two or three words forward and then one or two backward—unconsciously reading each line and a quarter or a half or three-quarters over again. Our booklet, 'How To Read Faster and Better," will help overcome this habit. Nonprofit, 15 cents (coin only) and self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. True—for two reasons: To escape blaming themselves and being blamed by others. They try to escape dominating, critical people by building an imaginary world where they can view them with contempt or indifference. They try to escape self-blame by the same device — imagining themselves as persons of power and importance. In extreme cases they actually think they are Caesar, Napoleon, or some other famous person.

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

'The Bar Sinister'

By JEFF RICHARDS
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, July 9 — While the average man's idea of Utopia seems to be to sit back and relax, while dissociating himself as far as possible from work, there's one Hollywood actor who believes that work is the greatest hobby ever devised for the amusement of man.

He's Edmund Gwenn, whose 60 years of acting, man and boy, with enough honors to satisfy a dozen actors, only serve to keep him eager and active, constantly on the look-out for new and brighter horizons.

Gwenn, questioned recently on the set of MGM's "The Bar Sinister" as to the possibility of his retiring, for once lost his normal benign look. The cooing voice which has charmed young and old changed to a king-sized roar.

"Retirement is a one-way ticket to the undertaker!"

Now while this might seem eminently unfair to organized undertakers, it does explain the exuberant philosophy which has kept Gwenn an outstanding stage and screen favorite for the past six decades.

"I like my work," he shrugs. 'Acting, like any creative job, is not something which can be turned off and forgotten. Either you like to work, or you don't like to work."

I enjoyed every moment of my work with him as a co-star in "The Bar Sinister."

Gwenn began liking work at the age of 17. His father promptly disowned him, acting being for knaves. The elder Gwenn a career man in the British civil service, later unbent and took no little parental pride in his son's achievements.

"I am amazed," says Gwenn, "at some of the present generation, not only actors, but in other walks of life. They seem to concentrate on the results, not on the effort. Acting — or doctoring, plumbing or face - lifting — should be sufficient and self - rewarding in the doing. Offhand, I can't think of any leader in his field who set out with his sights on the fruits and not the labor."

Gwenn, it might be explained, had one of the most Spartan - like mentors, the acid - tongued George Bernard Shaw, who treated actors, stage managers, producers, friends, enemies, and even strangers, with the same impartiality and biting sarcasm.

"He never permitted himself the useless luxury of loafing," says Gwenn. "He expected 150 per cent from everyone else."

It was Shaw who discovered the then unknown Gwenn, starred him in "Man and Superman," and set him on the long road of stage triumphs, not only in Shavian plays, but as the favorite actor of top British playwrights J. M. Barrie, John Galsworthy and J. B. Priestley. Priestley's "Laburnum Grove," written expressly for Gwenn, ran for more than two years in London and New York.

Gwenn, who now enjoys an 'elder actor" status in films, somewhat similar to Bernard Baruch in other circles, likes to entertain close friends at his snug Beverly Hills home. Depending on availability, the guests may include Ronald Colman, Herbert Marshall, Sir Cedric Hardwicke. On this occasions the conversation cued by "Teddy," as intimates call him, will range from footlights to football. (In his early days Gwenn played rugby for the famous London team, the Harlequins.)

According to Ernest Bach, Gwenn's companion - secretary for lo! these many years, Gwenn's interests stretch in all directions.

"Mr. Gwenn reads incessantly," says Bach. "He is probably one of the finest authorities on the history of the theatre. He pores over biographies — and can recount, verbatim, scores, records and averages of the sports world, past and present."

Retire?

With "The Bar Sinister" still in production, Gwenn was making arrangements for four radio shows, a Broadway play, three TV appearances, at the same time scouting for future films.

Bach further reveals that Hollywood's most beloved bachelor does not even relax at home when not before the cameras.

"He arises at the crack of dawn, goes over the household details for the day, checks the menus, then charges out to romp with the dog. When the dog is tired — then Mr. Gwenn begins gardening. Sometimes, it can be most tiring, just watching him!"

Somehow, one feels that much as Bach admires Gwenn, he does not fully approve his master's enthusiasm.

END OF A CHASE—Anne Baxter and Steve Forrest, attempting a daring escape, are stopped in their flight by Robert Ingarao in this scene from "Bedevilled." A suspenseful thrill drama, the new offering is the first picture in CinemaScope and color to be photographed in Paris and the first Hollywood film ever made in its entirety in the French capital. The picture starts today at the Jim Theater.

At The Theatres

Paramount Theatre

Starting today: "The Seven Year Itch," starring Marilyn Monroe and Tom Ewell, and filmed in CinemaScope and color with Stereophonic sound.

Next attraction: "The Seven Little Foys," starring Bob Hope in color by Technicolor.

Midnight show Saturday: Randolph Scott in "Tall Man Riding" filmed in color by Technicolor.

JIM THEATRE

Today through Tuesday: M-G-Ms "Bedevilled" starring Anne Baxter, Steve Forrest and Simone Renant. A suspenseful thrill - drama, the first picture in CinemaScope and color to be photographed in its entirety in Paris.

Starts Wednesday: "Escape to Burma" starring Barbara Stanwyck, Robert Ryan and David Farrar. It all takes place in the hot green hell of the Burma jungle. Great in Superscope and color by Technicolor.

Coming: M-G-M's "Blackboard Jungle" starring Glenn Ford, Anne Francis and Louis Calhern. The most startling picture of the year.

'Seven Little Foys' Coming To Paramount

When a man determines he's going to remain single and falls for the first girl he meets, that's life, but when a great performer makes the same vow and ends up the greatest father of them all, that's Eddie Foy and "The Seven Little Foys." It's also the wonderful ingredient for a film story loaded with rollicking humor and rich, human drama.

Starring Bob Hope, "The Seven Little Foys" is the next attraction at the Paramount Theatre, and judging by the reports of damp eyes and hearty laughter of advance showing audiences across the country, it's one of the most delightful screen biographies ever to come our way and the opening of a new dramatic career for the great comedian.

The story of Eddie Foy, an immortal star of the entertainment world, this sometimes hilarious, sometimes poignant film co-stars Hope with lovely Milly Vitale, excitingly refreshing Italian newcomer, and features George Tobias, Angela Clarke, and in the roles of the seven hooligans Eddie Foy fathered, seven of the liveliest, most lovable kids ever to appear on a movie screen. And added to this uperb cast is the sensational entertainment bonus of James Cagney, recreating the George M. Cohan characterization that won him worldwide acclaim and an Academy Award.

Eddie Foy's name alone carries for most people the nostalgic flavor of the old-time vaudeville and the aura of greatness that surrounds a performer of his calibre. But the man himself was even more fabulous than his stage career, and it is this fascinating behind - the - scenes story that Bob Hope recreates with a portrayal that has been called his greatest performance.

Foy was doggedly determined to remain a single, onstage and off. But chance threw him together with the Italian ballerina who charmed him into marriage, and nature took over after that. One child followed after another, to the total of seven, and a wild bunch they were, with a rolling stone for a father. The only way to control them was to put them into the act, and The Seven Little Foys became the most no - talent, hilarious and successful team on the boards. It's an absolutely delightful story.

In lavish VistaVision and Technicolor, with nine beloved songs and wonderful dances, Paramount's "The Seven Little Foys" is a bonanza of humor, drama and tender romance. It has everything, and everything it has is tops.

'Escape To Burma' Stars Stanwyck, Ryan, Farrar

The chance to go arm-chair adventuring in a teak forest plantation deep in the jungles of Burma will be offered local theatergoers when "Escape to Burma" opens at the Jim theater, Wednesday. A romantic adventure drama in Superscope and Technicolor, this Benedict Bogeaus production for RKO Radio co - stars Barbara Stanwyck Robert Ryan and David Farrar.

Miss Stanwyck is said to give one of her best performances as Gwen Moore, a beautiful but completely independent woman famed for her skill in handling elephants and the natives who work for her. She is content with her placid life as mistress of a teak forest plantation until Robert Ryan, a handsome stranger wanted for the theft of some valuable rubies and the death of a Burmese prince, seeks haven in her isolated home.

Their love affair is interrupted when David Farrar, an English Security Officer, and finally some Burmese soldiers, track the fugitive to his hideaway. The ensuing action, which takes place largely in the dense jungle, produces thrills, suspense and one of the most rugged screen fights in a long time before the story reaches its happy solution.

Murvyn Vye, Peginald Denny, the new Peruvian beauty, Lisa Montell, Robert Warwick and Peter Coe top the supporting cast. "Escape to Burma" was directed by Allan Dwan, with the screen play written by Talbot Jennings and Hobart Donavan from a Collier's Magazine story by Kenneth Perkins.

TAKE CARE

Falls often are fatal to people over 65, according to the National Safety Council. They advise having well - lighted stairways with continuous handrails, keeping children's toys off floor or lawn except in the play area, and not leaving garden tools where they will be trip - hazards. Older people with poor eyesight are likely to trip on scatter rugs or grass rugs, too.

Soldier Charged For Beating Pair At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, July 9 (AP)—A 30-year-old soldier was charged with two counts of aggravated battery tonight in the savage beating of two sisters with an electric iron. The district attorney's office accepted the charges against Cpl. Thomas Bibbs, stationed here at Camp Leroy Johnson.

Mrs. Virginia Robbins, 32, and her sister, Miss Cleone Hall, 26, told police an intruder, clad only in shorts, entered the downtown apartment last night while they were sleeping.

Miss Hall said she awoke to find the man standing over the bed, beating her sister over the head with an electric iron.

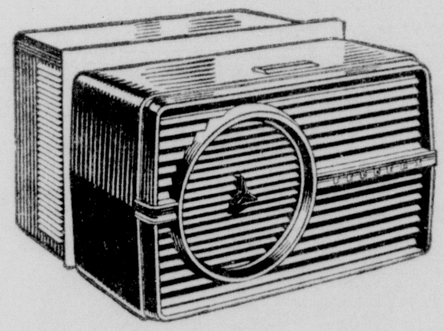

"With one hand," she said, "he was trying to strangle me and with the other he was beating Virginia across the face." She said he started to flee when she screamed, then turned and threw the iron at her, hitting her in the head.

Mrs. Robbins, a divorcee, told police she was going with Bibbs and had an argument with him earlier in the evening. Both women said he left the apartment in a violent temper.

They were treated at Charity Hospital for cuts and bruises and released.

Procter & Gamble's Golden Fluffo

EASTERN ILLINOIS COOKING CHAMPION

Mrs. Mintor W. Sanders, says:—

"My husband and sons just love the chicken I fry in Fluffo! You see, this rich, new, yellow shortening makes the chicken a beautiful golden-brown, and just wonderful tasting! No white shortening ever made my fried chicken look and taste so good!"

"No white shortening can give me fried chicken like this!" says the winner of 8 first prizes for cooking at giant Illinois fair.

What fried chicken it makes!

BETTER-LOOKING... BETTER-TASTING... SO DIGESTIBLE, TOO!

Yes, Fluffo fried foods are the best-tasting, crispy-hot golden-brown "fries" you can possibly make!

Unlike white shortenings, Fluffo melts to clear liquid gold for crispy-brown fried foods never possible before. Eat all the fried foods you want! Fluffo is truly pure and wonderfully digestible!

Like cooking champions, you'll be truly excited about golden Fluffo! It gives you deliciously tender-crisp, highly digestible golden-brown "fries" such as you've never been able to get before . . . more appetizing, by far, than you can get from white shortening!

That's because Fluffo is different! Yes, even its color is different...yellow from pure, wholesome carotene!

And Fluffo is such fun to work with! Use it in all your recipes that call for shortening – and see what happens! Without changing a single measurement, you'll get the flakiest, tenderest golden-brown piecrust . . . the lightest, highest, finest-textured cakes possible!

Fluffo costs no more than leading white shortenings! It's available in most areas. Get it for better-tasting cooking.
